Cook plans fight against demotion

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Former state highway safety director Donald D. Cook planned to go to Gov. James A. Rhodes today with a letter announcing he will fight his demotion by Rhodes. Then, Cook said, he will make the letter

Cook would not say what was in the ietter, but he said, "When you're right, you fight. That's what I intend to do.' Rhodes reassigned Cook to supervision of the crime prevention office. Bureau of Motor Vehicles Registrar Curtis Andrews was renamed deputy director of the transportation department. Andrews accepted his new assignment. Cook said Sunday he was not concerned about what might be revealed if there were an investigation into the department's operations. He said he would welcome such a probe to "clear the record.

Cook also said he could not understand why Rhodes would not discuss the reassignment with him directly, but instead dealt with him through ad-

Cook and Andrews fought for eight months over allegations that Andrews was insubordinate. Accusations by Cook included one that Andrews had shut down a 24-hour crime data gathering system used by the Highway Patrol and local police agencies. The system was put back into roundthe-clock operation Friday night.

"I ordered it weeks ago," Cook told the Elyria Chronical Telegram in a copyrighted story. "Patrol wanted it. Police wanted it. How come they can do it in less than one day after they fire me and they couldn't do it for weeks after I ordered it done? That's the insubordination I was talking about."

The governor's reassignments in the Transportation Department led to the resignations of two officials, including Rhodes' brother-in-law, David B.

Ruling Japanese party hurt in vote

TOKYO (AP) - Roused from their usual complacency by Lockheed and other money scandals, Japanese voters gave the ruling conservatives of the Liberal-Democratic party a stinging

In elections Sunday to fill the 511 seats in the lower house of the Diet, the Japanese parliament, the Liberal-Democrats won only 249 seats, seven short of a majority. It was the first time since the party made its debut 21 years ago that it failed to win a majority.

The party's headquarters announced today that eight independents elected Sunday joined the party, a customary happening after Japanese elections. This gave the Liberal-Demcrats 257 seats, or a majority of three. But it was in sharp contrast to the 51-seat majority the party won in the 1972

It was also far short of the 271 seats needed to assure the Liberal-Democrats of the chairmanship of all parliamentary committees.

"I feel the Liberal-Democratic party gave the impression to the people we lacked self-reflection over Lockheed incident," Prime Minister Takeo Miki told a news conference.

Asahi, Japan's biggest newspaper, called it a "landslide defeat" predicted "major post-election tur-

Miki was re-elected to the lower house, but the setback to his party will probably result in his replacement as prime minister by his former deputy and longtime rival, Takeo Fukuda.

The opposition seats were widely divided. The Socialists had won 123, Komeito (Clean Government) 55, the Democratic Socialists 29, the new Liberal Club 17, independents 21 and the Communists 17.

In turning away from the conservatives, the voters went to the middle of the political spectrum. The big gainers were the Komeito party, which picked up 25 seats; the Democratic Socialists, which gained 10; and the reformers of the Liberal Club, who broke away from the corruptiontainted Liberal-Democrats. Beginning with five members of the lower house, the Liberals elected 17 of their 25

The Socialists and Communists expected to capitalize on the Lockheed scandal and the conservative split. Instead, the Communists dropped 22 seats, while the Socialists fell short of the 130-135 they hoped for.

"The electorate has said 'no' to both extremes in politics," said Miki. "But we must regard this election as a crisis for Japanese democracy, one which demands change and reform.'

The results appeared to spell the end of Miki's tenacious, uphill struggle to remain in power. Named prime minister by elders of the party in 1974 to restore its battered image after the resignation under a cloud of Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, Miki was done in by the Lockheed scandal.

WASHINGTON (AP) - Women who buy birth control pills soon will also get a brochure from their pharmacists that lists the hazards and benefits of the medication, the Food and Drug Administration says. The FDA announced Sunday it plans to require that a new brochure be given to each of the 8 million to 10 million American women who use the pill. The brochures would be supplied by drug companies to pharmacists, who would enclose one each time a woman got a new or renewal prescription.

The brochure will explain the health hazards that have been linked to the pill. Until now, such information has been available from a woman's doctor only if she requested it.

It will also tell women that the pill has been shown to be the most effective contraceptive on the market.

The new brochure would advise possibilities. Lance told the Los Angeles Times that a tax cut of up to $15 billion possibly in the form of a rebate on 1976 income taxes — probably will be proposed by Carter. He suggested that a tax cut will be part of a package to stimulate the economy that will include a jobs program and tax investment credits to spur industrial expansion.

'The reason: It is important that the position of the association be made clear at an early date.'

AMA officials fear that if they don't support some form of insurance, Congress will pass one they oppose.

The urgency stems at least in part from concern that President-elect Carter, who has endorsed national health insurance, will move early in his administration toward introducing

Carter steps in on steel hike

In his first news conference following the election, Presidentelect Carter was at pains to note that he was not yet in office and thus had little or no power to influence affairs. This well-intentioned disclaimer does not wholly jibe with the facts of American political life

However determined the winner of a presidential election may be to avoid even the appearance of interfering, what he says is bound to have an effect on events. Perhaps in acceptance of this, Carter now seems to be backing away from his earlier stance of aloofness.

This was indicated by his response to the steel companies' nouncement of a six per cent price increase on flat-rolled steel products, which are used mainly in automobiles and other consumer goods. Under the guidelines he had previously set for himself he might have said nothing. As it is, he revealed in a television interview that he had sought informally to persuade the steel companies to roll back the projected increase

In elaborating on this, the president-elect elated steel price increases to the prospect of further boosts in oil prices by the oil-exporting nations. "If prices are going up," he said, "I think it would be a good excuse for Iran and other nations to way, 'Well, if you increase steel prices in the middle of our oil meetings, then it's legitimate for us to raise our oil prices," This is of particular interest because it was in reference to prices on imported oil that Carter had previously stressed his lack of authority until he takes

Now, in spite of this supposed handicap, he is seeking to bring his influence to bear on the steel companies. That makes sense, considering the inflationary impact of a steel price boost. Still, it is a significant departure from the notion that a president-elect is in no position to play an active role.

Footnote: The steel industry, not bemused by the notion that an incoming president is above the battle, has offered to explain the price boost

"He'd never DARE do that if we were home!"

So you charge more for less, with competitition a back-alley joke. The timing of this stroke is especially interesting. It comes on the eve of the meeting of the OPEC nations to decide ow large their oil price increase should be In an interview with the Shah of Iran

For while the steel companies, from

small to giant, agree to raise prices 6 per cent on the kind of steel that goes into automobiles, refrigerators and most of the things consumers buy, the in Tehran, columnist Joseph Kraft quotes the Shah as saying that a 15 per cent increase is his "starting point.

One may well ask why the OPEC nations should show any restraint whatsoever in view of what is happening on this side of the Atlantic.

The principal arbiters of the economy—the steel companies and, just back of them, the auto companies are going ahead without any regard for the inflationary consequences of their acts. Conservation is another back-alley joke, with the gas-guzzlers outselling small cars.

Timing on the political side is also interesting. President Ford, in the declining weeks of his presidency, has neither the will nor the capacity to act on steel prices. Indeed it is questionable whether he would have acted effectively if he had had another full term ahead of him. Down in Plains, Ga., is Jimmy

Carter, the president-elect. He can give interviews and speak reprovingly of the steel price increase, but he has no power to act. Whether he will have the force of character to take any action that might conceivably work, "ex post facto," we shall not know until after-How big a bump steel and oil will give to inflation, no one can say at this point That it will be a bump can hardly be doubted.

Add to this the increase in the price of natural gas, which has just gone into part of the Ford dubious strategy of de-regulation - and the present rate of 5 per cent or 6 per cent is likely to go in the new year to 7 per cent or 8 per cent.

What a welcome for Carter! He will be faced with an upward price movement that must seem out of control at the same time that unemployment is close to 8 per cent.

The heart of Carter's dilemma is that the measures he would presumably advance to bring down the jobless rate would, in the view of moderates and conservatives in Congress, contribute to inflation and whether a new aggressive Congress would approve the Carter proposals is a large question.

On the other side of the political spectrum are those who would use far more radical means to break a stalemate. One example widely discussed is to break up the big oil companies so that they would be limited to a single function. Carter at one point was reported favoring such a proposal.

A bold prophet will say that nothing as radical as this can happen. Yet if arbitrary forces beyond all control can bring about destructive price rises, there will be a hardening on both sides of the political divide.

At the very least it can mean a further slackening of the economy. The auto companies are said to be programming for large sales well into 1977. But if prices go up $100 to $150 a car, their estimates may be proved wrong.

During his two years and three months in office with his policy of "slow is beautiful," Ford saw the country sink into the worst recession since the '30s. In the vacuum of leadership during his presidency, he did nothing about prices and precious little about conservation. Conservatives champion him for his vetoes. At least, they say, he did nothing to stimulate prices.

But as we are seeing, this is not enough. The inheritance he has left to his successor is dark and uncertain. Nor does Carter have the advantage of the clean sweep that confronted Franklin Roosevelt when he took over in 1933, with every bank in the country closed and 15,000,000 or more Americans out of work.

That was CRISIS iun capital letters. He had his hundred days for swift action. When that is said, however, it must be remembered that not until the war orders from France and Britain began coming in was there a substantial dent in the mass of the jobless.

One letter simply stands for another. In this sample A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Dear

Hire a handyman

and don't bug mate

DEAR ABBY: My father was a "Mr. Fixit." He could repair anything. Being the oldest, I had to hold his lights and hand him his tools, so I learned more than the average girl about many things.

Seven years ago I married my high school sweetheart. He's a sweet guy, but he doesn't own a screwdriver and doesn't want one. He would (and has) walked five miles in a blizzard before he'd change a tire.

I've done all the painting and repair work-even built shelves and cupboards, and fixed electric appliances around here. My husband can't even hold a rake, much less drive a nail.

Last night I went to sleep early. (I'm eight months pregnant.) Somehow he broke the handle off the faucet in our bathroom, so he woke me up. Water was squirting everywhere, and he'd used all the towels in the cupboard to soak it up. I got up, turned off the main water valve (he didn't even know where it was), cleaned up the mess, threw the towels in the dryer and asked him what happened. All he said was, "Don't bug me."

Abby, he's a steady worker, is goodlooking and doesn't drink, and I know he loves me. So what do you do with a guy like that?

TIRED

DEAR TIRED: You love him for his virtues, overlook his faults, hire a handyman and don't bug him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful 24year-old college-educated daughter who is getting married soon. Her future husband wants her to keep a kosher kitchen. Do you think she should? PATTERSON, N.J.

DEAR PATTERSON: Not unless he's Jewish.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a girl who's nearly 18, and I have this thing about kissing. For some weird reason, kissing turns me off completely. I can't stand to be kissed by a boy, and I can't bring myself to kiss one.

Even as a child I hated it when a relative would say, "Come here and give me a kiss.

I am dating a nice boy who has been very patient with me. Most guys would give up on a girl who refused to kiss him. I know I'm letting my boyfriend down because of my hangup and I'll probably lose him soon because I can't expect him to go with me forever if I don't kiss My Mom tells me to force myself, but just can't.

Other girls my age seem to enjoy kissing, but it's repulsive to me. Please help me.

HATES TO KISS

DEAR HATES: Apparently your early experiences related to kissing are responsible for your negative feelings. I recommend professional help to overcome your hangup.

FBI agent debunks crime-poverty link

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — "Criminals are people who never have jobs when jobs are plentiful," said Thomas Mit-chell, special agent in charge of the FBI's Columbus office, after speaking the the Rotary Club here.

His statement was aimed at debunking the theory that crime and poverty are interrelated.

'Crime can be controlled," he said, but it "will not change until we change the minds and hearts of people.

The special agent discoursed on crime and criminals during more specific comments about the role of the FBI in the investigation of the kidnapmurder of James J. "If an agent had known of the robbery from Garside, there should be another man on trial," Mitchell said.

Returning to his more philosophical discussion of crime, Mitchell sought to involve individuals in the control of crime claiming it touches everyone financially. A big part of government spending at all levels, he said, goes for crime control. Much of the cost of insurance he attributed to auto thefts and home burglaries He noted that bank robberies in Columbus were happening once a week during the 1974-1975 period. He said the rate was cut in half through a program of involving bank workers and other citizens in watching for and reporting suspicious activity

Larceny reports checked by officers over weekend

Numerous larcenies, including an alleged theft of items valued at $330 from a car parked at an area motel, were reported to local law enforcement agencies over the weekend.

One of the problems in the early settlement of the wilderness territories west of the Allegheny mountains was the claiming of great tracts of land by eastern states such as Virginia, Massachusetts, New York, Connecticut, Pennsylvania and others. MECHANICSBURG, Ohio (AP) -William B. Saxbe, who resigned as ambassador to India, has returned home amid speculation he will seek the Republican gubernatorial nomination

But the 60-year-old former U.S. attorney general and senator from Ohio discouraged such talk as he headed for his cattle farm in Champaign County.

'I'm going to Mechanicsburg, and I'll make myself available to anyone who wants to hunt, play golf or go fishing," he told reporters in Columbus on Saturday. "It's been about eight years since I left, and I don't contemplate leaving again.

The Treaty of Ft. Stanwix in the Mohawk Valley in New York in 1768 fixed the boundaries of Indian lands in Ohio. About 3,400 Indian warriors assembled for the conference. From the eastern end of Lake Ontario the line ran southerly to the Delaware River then west to the Allegheny River, down the Allegheny and to the Ohio and hence to the Tennessee. The Indians ceded all lands east and south of that line for goods and silver worth more than 20,000 English pounds. — AP

Grapefruit Shortcake, made with golden Florida citrus, will bring a touch of sunshine to the chilliest day. Fresh grapefruit, the best you can buy, is now in plentiful supply in supermarkets due to an abundant, top quality Sunshine State crop. Grapefruit is a fine 'round-the-clock food, good for breakfast, a lightweight lunch, afternoon pick-me-up, or nighttime snack. But combined with a rich, sturdy shortcake, as it is here, it helps create the satisfying, naturally sweetened dessert we all seem to crave in the winter. And fresh citrus in desserts contributes the extra bonus of natural fiber and vitamin C, both vital to good health.

Jobless cut plan could bring bottlenecks

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) - President-elect Carter's goal of lowering the jobless rate by 1.5 percentage points in 1977 might result in costly bottlenecks, according to a U.S. Chamber of Commerce official.

To achieve this goal, said Jack Carlson, the new chief economist of the limitations.

national chamber, would strain the nation's plant capacity, which he views suffering from serious underinvestment.

Carlson fears that much of the plant and equipment said to be available for use is either obsolete because it requires too much energy to operate or else is impacted by environmental

When demand for goods exceeds the capacity of the production machinery, a general inflationary situation usually ensues, resulting in conditons which the chamber fears could be the excuse for imposing wage-price controls.

Carlson, who joined the chamber a month ago after 12 years of government service under four presidents, an harmonious relationship with Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and his naming of Thomas Lance, a banker, to a high fiscal position, has been reassuring, he said.

In Carlson's view, Carter seems set to pursue a moderate course.

The chamber, whose 62,000 members represent a cross-section of business life, is said however to be concerned that few business people are on the Carter transition team, and that those who are seem to represent a progovernment attitude.

For this and other reasons, Carlson said, chamber officials will be closely observing not just Cabinet-level appointments but "second tier, sub-Cabinet people and agencies to whom Congress gives great responsibility and

Aside from the immediate concern of measuring and influencing the political scene, the big issues facing business today, in the chamber's view, are a capital shortage and the threat of government intervention in markets. The discouragement of investment in expanded plant and equipment in recent years - because of wars, recessions and wage-price controls has serious ramifications for the job market, Carlson observed.

"To go from 6 per cent to 5 per cent unemployment requires a "massive investment in plant and equipment," he said. While estimates vary on the actual capital requirements to produce one job, many place the figure at more than $40,000. In order to encourage capital investment, and in Carlson's view make possible full employment, he believes that profit as a percentage of sales, now around 5 per cent, must rise to 6 or 7 per

Calling wage-price controls the "most pervasive intrusion into the private sector by the federal government," Carlson suggested Carter could do much to build investor confidence by making clear he has no such plans.

Mating calls used to stir up falcons

By GEORGE TIBBITS Associated Press Writer

GREENACRES, Wash. (AP) - As sex objects, Robert Young and Lester Boyd are for the birds.

They bob, they weave, they coo sensuous mating calls and perform food exchange rituals - all to put uptight falcons in the mood for romance.

When the two men are successful, male falcons deposit semen in a special hat with a rubber ring, and female falcons submit to artificial insemination.

'The birds can be very finicky when

Young and Boyd, a Washington State University zoology technician at Pullman, both are experienced falconers, hunters who use birds of prey in catching animals.

They began using their complex method called breeding "cooperative artificial insemination" three years ago as a way to to increase their supply of birds.

The technique has produced about 20

variety is the prairie falcon, which has a 21/2-foot wingspan and is protected under federal migratory bird laws.

In Pullman, Boyd begins the process with his stock of mostly male birds. Following the example of wild birds, he offers food to his falcon "mate" while bowing, posturing and warbling seductively. If the courtship ritual succeeds, the male bird hops onto the special hat and deposits semen.

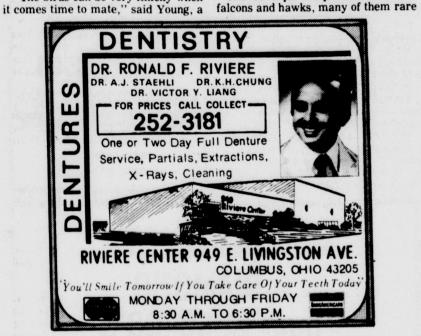

The sperm stays usable for only 12 to 14 hours, so Boyd rushes it to Greenacres by carrier pigeon. He said he uses pigeons because they are reliable and cheap and spare him the 160-mile roundtrip drive.

At Greenacres, Young takes over with his stock of largely female birds. He goes through much the same ritual, and when the female is ready, he implants the semen through a plastic tube.

"Our interest is that it's not so forceful (as other methods), not a traumatic experience for the bird," said Boyd. "We can get more mileage out of the birds."

Young's champion hen is a prairie falcon which has produced 17 eggs this year, 10 of them fertile.

An act of 1852 by the Ohio Legislature limited women and children under 18 to a 10-hour day, the sole regulation of its kind in that period except for a provision forbidding employment of children under 12 in mines, enacted in 1874. Temperamental popcorn shown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Popcorn is temperamental, and William McNutt wanted to prove it during the recent convention of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

McNutt, director of contract services for the federation, said, "It's very temperamental, from the farmer's point of view.

The Worthington resident displayed a big-time, corn-popping machine at the convention hotel for guests.

McNutt said a lot of work, money and effort goes into the popcorn people serve in homes and buy at movie theatres.

First, it's harder to grow than sweet corn which people eat at meals and field corn which is fed to livestock. Then, McNutt says you don't just take the corn off the cob and pop it. Rather, it has to be graded and dried for

Without that preparation, McNutt says it just won't pop.

Farmers in Ohio produced 750,000 pounds of cern for popping this year.

Coleman may put off air bags

sportation Secretary William T Coleman Jr. was expected to decide against requiring auto makers to install air bags as safety devices on new

Sources said Coleman, who was to announce his decision today, probably would suggest that more testing be done on the controversial devices before they are installed. The sources said he also probably will urge that states adopt laws that require motorists to buckle their seat belts to protect them in any accident.

The secretary's announcement about air bags comes after he held public hearings in August where opponents and proponents argued the merits of the device and whether the cost outweighed the potential benefits.

The secretary gave notice earlier that he was giving heavy weight to the philosophical question of how far the government should go to protect lazy and careless drivers from themselves. Air bags are designed to protect this passive restraints on some cars.

segment of the population. Air bags are inflatable devices that pop out of the dashboard or steering wheel when a car is in an accident. The cushion catches the driver and front seat passengers and keeps them from hitting the car interior The bags inflate in less than one twenty-fifth of a second and deflation begins immediately after inflation stops. The whole process takes less than a second.

Before announcing his decision, Coleman was known to be considering five possible courses of action: keep the present law that allows manufacturers to offer passive safety devices such as air bags and take no further action; keep the present law but require that air bags be tested further; keep the present law but urge states to adopt laws requiring drivers to use their seat belts; change the law to require auto makers to offer passive restraints such as air bags on all cars; or change the law to require auto makers to offer

The bags have been around for years. and General Motors has sold several thousand cars with the bags as an option. The devices have become favorites of auto-safety crusaders who believe seat belts will never be effective because too many passengers do not use them The auto industry opposed air bag requirements, while the insurance industry supported the devices. Auto makers contended the devices were unproven and expensive and that seat belts offered the same or better protection at less cost, if drivers would buckle up

The government estimated that air bags or other such restraints could save as many as 9,000 lives and prevent 500,000 serious injuries a year if all cars were equipped with the devices. Seat belts also would save about 9,000 lives a year at a lower cost - but only if all drivers and front seat passengers used

Three more Minster youths killed in traffic accident

Augustines Catholic Church in Minster lost three young parishioners early Sunday and Minster High School has lost three more students.

One of the dead, James J. Quinlin, 16, narrowly escaped death last March when a car plowed into a group of Minster High students and killed eight

Toy hazards campaign opens bear may be hazardous to your health. That's the message from the Consumer Product Safety Commission, which has started another holiday

Americans are expected to spend an estimated $5 billion on toys and games in the coming Christmas season alone. They also will spend about $20 million on Christmas tree lights - 35 million sets of them, according to the com-

Toy manufacturers started gearing up for the holiday early this year. Some 5,000 new items - many of them linked to popular television shows — were on display last February at the American Toy Fair in New York and the products groups are now on store shelves across the Sales of toys, games and Christmas ornaments are expected to set a record this year, according to David A. Miller, president of the Toy Manufacturers of America. Miller has estimated that this year's sales will be 6 to 8 per cent higher than last year's.

While the manufacturers and retailers worry about profits, the safety hazards. The federal agency estimates that 150,000 children will be seriously injured as a result of accidents with toys this year.

The commission has the authority to ban dangerous toys such as those containing rigid wires and sharp points. That includes stuffed animals and dolls that might appear harmless, but contain hidden dangers.

Until two years ago, the commission issued a list of banned toys and volunteers patrolled stores looking for hazardous products. The list was dropped, however, and the commission says it has no plans to reinstate it, despite the protests of some consumer

A commission spokesman said the banned toy list had several drawbacks. First, it was difficult to keep the list up to date. By the time the list was printed and distributed, some of the items already had been withdrawn from the market or changed in design to eliminate the hazard. This led to potential legal problems.

In addition, the spokesman said, the list was actually misleading to some people who assumed that any toy not on the list was automatically classified as safe. Not so. Many toys simply were not tested at all because of lack of money and staff.

The commission is now concentrating on educating the public with a variety of promotional efforts.

There are specific safety standards for some toys, mainly those involving electricity. All electrical toys must be labeled with a warning message and a minimum age recommendation. No item with a heating element may be recommended for children under eight. Some hobby items, such as woodburning kits, may reach very high temperatures and may not be recommended for children under 12.

All warning statements that appear on the toy or package must appear in the instructions as well

Hearing slated on sale dates

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - A public hearing is scheduled Monday in Columbus to give consumers an opportunity to recommend the method by which a sale date will be placed on packages of certain perishable goods. Ohio agriculture director John M. Stackhouse said a new state law affects food products with the manufacturer, processor or packager has determined have a quality assurance period of 30 days or less

The new law does not apply to fresh fruits and vegetables nor to meat or poultry. The U.S. Department of Agriculture has adopted a voluntary open dating program which prohibits states from imposing mandatory open dating on prepackaged meats.

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — Norfolk and Western Railway will rehabilitate 510 miles of its right-of-way between Ohio and Indiana as part of a $110 million capital improvements program next year, the company has announced.

The company said it plans to spend $11.5 million on the continuing rehabilitation of a Norfolk and Western route between Portsmouth, Ohio, and Lafayette, Ind. The work includes the area between Cincinnati, Ohio, and New Castle, Ind., acquired in April from Penn Central.

Also planned is work on freight yard track facilities in the Columbus, Ohio, area. The firm said the rehabilitation work, which began last year, is scheduled to be completed in 1978.

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer LOS ANGELES (AP) — CBS has this private eye series called "Switch." It has an excop teamed with a former con man. Together, they solve crimes.

Now consider: ABC tonight is airing one episode of its postponed "Feather and Father" series. Feather is a young lady lawyer. Father a former con man who investigates for her. Together, they solve crimes.

Anyone tells you networks fear fresh ideas, you tell him to go smoke a banana

ABC's innovation stars Stefanie Powers as the lady barrister and Harold Gould as her flim-flam father. Tonight's yarn concerns a two-star

Air Force general (William Windom) who illegally profited in a $22-million defense contract award by giving inside information to the award-winning aircraft company

The general, who is driven about by a clean-cut young sergeant, is being blackmailed by a former accountant for the aircraft company. The bookkeeper wants big hush money.

Whereupon the general drives over him in a car. The sergeant, not in the car at the time, winds up framed on charges of manslaughter and hit-andrun driving. Enter Feather, defense

Enter Father, investigator, when the sergeant sees a newspaper picture of the departed and thinks the general knew him somehwere.

Enter four of Father's old bunco artist cronies. A plot is hatched to deceive the general, break his air-tight alibi, free the sergeant and make the guilty party a two-star prisoner.

The various flim-flams laid on the general are fairly amusing, but mercy, the scenes, dialogue and plotwork leading up to all this could make a show called "The Original Amateur Half-

As a series, "Feather and Father" was to begin this fall on Saturdays at 10 p.m. EST, until ABC temporarily shelved it.

Now that ABC says it has scheduled one episode for 8 p.m. EST in most parts of the nation, the show is getting what amounts to a try-out in television's sanitized "family hour" period. Readers may recall that a federal judge here recently declared unconstitutional the "family hour" part of the National Association of Broadcasters' code to which all three networks subscribe. He didn't outlaw the "family hour," only its inclusion in an industry-wide code of conduct. Still, ABC, with CBS and the NAB, plans to appeal the judge's ruling.

Which makes one early scene in tonight's "Feather and Father" seem a bit odd for ABC's family hour fare the scene in which the general coldbloodedly drives over the guy blackmailing him.

Neither the actual impact nor blood were depicted in the version we saw in advance. But we did see the victim tumbling about before horrified witnesses as the general's car sped away.

If you watch the show tonight, see if this version airs. If it does, the general may face two serious charges: (a) running over a blackmailer, and (b) running over a family hour.

Vance administrator, not globe-trotter

WASHINGTON (AP) - Cyrus R. Vance, the establishment Wall Street lawyer named by President-elect Carter to be his secretary of state, is a man used to carrying out policy, not creating it.

The 59-year-old West Virginia native has deep and varied experience in foreign affairs, but always as a No.2, a chief of staff. Given his previous statements, that is exactly what Carter

The President-elect told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a private meeting two weeks ago that "I intend to appoint a strong and competent secretary of state, but ... I will be the president and I will represent the country in foreign affairs. Carter evidently intends to return to the practice followed by Presidents Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon in using the national security adviser as the main source of foreign policy advice, leaving the State Department to provide information and carry out

In any event, Carter clearly wants Vance to be low-key. A major campaign issue raised by Carter was the dominance displayed by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger over American foreign policy. He strongly criticized Kissinger for being "a Lone Ranger" in conducting the nation's diplomacy Both Carter and Vance made it clear

Friday when the President-elect announced the appointment in Plains, Ga., that Kissinger's whirling dervish style of personal diplomacy will be abandoned

"I think the amount of travel that Mr. Vance would do would be fairly minimal," Carter said.

Vance speaks with experience as a ball carrier. His first major government role came in 1961 as general counsel for the Defense Department.

He was elevated to secretary of the Army a year later, followed in 1964 by a promotion to the Pentagon's No. 2 position, deputy secretary of defense. He resigned in 1967, turning down the defense secretary's job, because of a bad back and to assume a position with a Wall Street law firm. But he continued to serve President Lyndon B. Johnson off-and-on, first as a special negotiator in Cyprus in 1967, then in a similar position in Korea.

In 1968 and 1969, he was the No. 2. American negotiator for the Vietnam peace talks in Paris

He also acted as Johnson's personal representative during the Detroit race

Carter had warm words for-Vance in his statement, but he emphasized the technical and administrative aspects of the incoming secretary

Vance is an old friend, Carter said, and "a level-headed, competent good manager." The incoming chief executive added that Vance is "a superb adviser, negotiator.'

Carter and Vance also touched on a few specific foreign policy issues and the President-elect showed that he intended to keep Vance under his direc-

Ohio losing license tees

Make Friends with the Elements

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A $100,000 expenditure could give Ohio at least $3 million annually through state license fees currently uncollected from out-ofstate truckers, says a former Bureau of Motor Vehicles enforcement chief.

Dwight Joseph blamed the noncollection on a policy by former BMV Registrar Curtis Andrews, contained in an Oct. 28 memo to the enforcement staff.

The memo directed agents "to discontinue all forced registrations unless it is clearly known by the enforcement representative that the unit is operating exclusively within the State of Ohio and engaged in intrastate hauling."

Joseph said the state would collect at least $3 million a year "if the registrar put the (number of) people on the scales I wanted.

Santa and the Giant Fighter

Synopsis: Billy the Giant Fighter travels to Santa Land to slay the wicked giant who has captured the Fairy Queen and plans to capture Santa

PATRICK TWEEDLEKNEES Billy the Giant Fighter burst through the door of Santa's house. He didn't even knock.

'Good gracious!" cried Santa. He had been pacing up and down in front of his fireplace. He stared at Billy in astonishment. "Who are you?"

"I'm ready to fight!" announced Billy loudly. He swung his sword back and forth a few times but he felt a little silly because there didn't seem to be any giants around.

"Throw him out!" shouted a furious voice from the corner. "Look what he's done to my papers!" A short bowlegged dwarf was jumping up and down and pointing angrily to a sea of papers which the breeze from the open door had flung all over the room.

"I-I'm sorry," stammered Billy putting his sword back in his belt. "I thought - I thought-

"You didn't think at all!" bellowed the dwarf. "Let me tell you things are bad enough without-Tweedleknees!" "Quiet, turned to the boy and said gently, "You must not mind Patrick Tweedleknees He is old and grumpy and he has much on his mind. A wicked giant named Goko has captured the Fairy Queen. He has taken the moon from the sky and promises to take me, too, when I ride on Christmas Eve. Then he will marry the Queen, gain possession of all her magic, and he himself will rule the world.

Tweedleknees has been playing with all the letters of the alphabet to discover the magic words that will free the moon. But it's all useless, I'm afraid, because the Queen has said that only a real live boy who believes in giants can save us all.

'I'm the boy!" cried Billy eagerly. "I'm Billy the Giant Fighter. An elfite sent me here

"Giant fighter!" sneered Patrick Tweedleknees. "You look like a goldfish fighter. How many giants have you fought?

"Not many. Not any, really, I guess But I can! I know I can!

Santa took the boy's hands in his. "Do you truly believe in giants?" "Oh, yes!

"Thank goodness!" cried Santa smiling. For a minute he looked cheery and pink the way Billy had always imagined he would look. Then he turned sad again and said, "Billy, you're the one chance we have to save the Fairy Queen and Santa Land. But Goko is strong and his power is great and butter.

"Billy, you are our one chance!" said Santa.

and you must be very very brave." Billy nodded. He was so scared he couldn't speak. He put his hand on the wooden sword in his belt. It gave him courage. He found his voice and said, 'This is my sword. I made it myself. I expect it doesn't look like much to you but it is better than you might think.' Santa studied the sword and nodded solemnly. "The blade is straight and the point is good." He put his arm around Billy and drew him nearer to the fire because the boy was shivering so. Then he told Billy that more than a sword was needed to destroy the giant.

"You must have some magic as strong as Goko's or he will destroy you before you have a chance to strike him with your sword. 'But where will I get such magic?"

asked Billy "From the Harp Witch. She is Goko's enemy. We will visit her and she will tell us what you must do.

Billy said he was ready to go but Santa said they could not go until Patrick Tweedleknees had found the magic words to free the moon.

'For, you see," said Santa. "The giant can be destroyed only while the moon is in the sky. That is why Goko took it out of the sky and that is why we must put it back.'

Blue Cross wins rate increase

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Blue Cross of Central Ohio has been granted a $1.28 a month rate increase affecting subscribers covered by the Blue Cross Medi-Fill program, the company said

The increase, approved by the state Department of Insurance, will go into effect on Feb. 1, imposing increases on about 37,500 subscribers in the 29county service area, from the present $3.20 to $4.48 per month.

The Medi-Fill contract covers deductible and co-insurance amounts not paid by Medicare Part A hospital insurance. The increase corresponds with increases in benefit amounts payable through federal Medicare effective Jan. 1, Blue Cross said.

Howard C. Franz, Blue Cross plan president, said Blue Cross has been experiencing losses on the Medi-Fill classification since 1973.

College upsets continue as 'anybody can win'

By KEN RAPPOPORT

AP Sports Writer College basketball already has had more than its share of upsets this young season, and Louisville's Denny Crum envisions many more before the shooting stops in March.

"Anybody can beat anybody today, says the Louisville coach. "Everybody has good talent. Anybody — even though you may not know about them."

Earlier this season, third-ranked North Carolina was upset by Wake Forest. Last Wednesday night, fourthranked Indiana was tripped up by Toledo. On Friday night 19th-rated Rutgers was surprised by Columbia. And Saturday night, Crum's seventhranked Cardinals were beaten by Syracuse 76-75.

Even though his team was upset, Crum was not

"They played well and beat us," Crum said with a shrug. "I'm not disappointed with our effort. We did turn over the ball at crucial times and we've got to do things better on defense. But Syracuse is a darn good team

Syracuse obviously was motivated more than Louisville.

"Our coach (Jim Boeheim) put it in our heads that we could win - and we believed him," said Syracuse forward Dale Shackleford.

Elsewhere, top-ranked Michigan walloped Fordham 78-57; No. 3 UCLA routed the Brazilian Nationals 94-67 in an exhibition game; No. 6 Nevada-Las Vegas hammered Idaho State 115-80; No. 8 Notre Dame blasted Valparaiso

Marty Byrnes scored 17 points and pulled down 12 rebounds and Jim Williams had 16 points, leading the Syracuse victory

Rickey Green led a balanced Michigan attack with 17 points. The contest was close most of the first half before the Wolverines pulled away to a 41-28 lead at intermission. Fordham never got back into the game after that.

Marques Johnson scored 18 points, leading UCLA over the outclassed Brazilian Nationals. The Bruins, tuning up for Notre Dame next Saturday in Pauley Pavilion, controlled the game from the start and never were pressed by the Brazilians.

Reggie Theus contributed 24 points and five other players scored in double figures, leading Nevada-Las Vegas past Iowa State. The Rebels never trailed, jumping to a 6-0 lead and building a 54-33 halftime advantage en

Rich Branning scored 18 points, handed off five assists and made four steals, leading Notre Dame past

Rod Williams and Marlon Redmond each scored 15 points, pacing San Francisco past Stanford, the Dons' fifth straight victory of the season. Elliott's points gave him a career total of 1,770, breaking the old mark of 1,765 set last year by Al Fleming.

Eddie Lee scored 20 points and led Cincinnati on an 18-point tear as the Bearcats buried South Florida. Alabama took control midway through the first half behind Rickey Brown and went on to defeat La Salle. Brown led the Crimson Tide attack with 18 points.

Reggie Jackson scored a basket with three seconds to go, leading Tennessee over North Carolina-Charlotte. Steve Sheppard scored 12 points, powering Maryland past Princeton in a game slowed by the Tigers' deliberate play.

Gary Wilson had 24 points, leading Southern Illinois past Missouri-Kansas City. Dave Corzine's 24 points and 19 rebounds, powering DePaul past St. Mary's of California.

By The Associated Press

Two grand old men of college football turned in their whistles after their teams, often playing for Southwest Conference honors, met for just pride and show.

Following Texas' 29-12 victory over Arkansas Saturday night, Darrell Royal of Texas and Frank Broyles of Arkansas announced they would step down from their coaching positions but remain at their schools as athletic directors.

It was if some great director or-chestrated the tearful farewell for the two coaches, who have been great friends and coaching rivals in the Southwest Conference for two decades. Royal's teams have won 11 SWC titles and two national championships and Broyles' clubs have won seven SWC crowns and one national championship.

The fans in Memorial Stadium were kept in the dark until the last 18 seconds of the game when the public address announcer said: "Let's give these two great gentlemen a round of applause for their fine contribution to the coaching profession. Both are resigning tonight."

Texas' victory was built on a pair of touchdown runs by Earl Campbell and three field goals by Russell Erxleben. The triumph kept Royal from suffering his first losing season in 20 years at

Texas. The Longhorns finished 5-5-1. "It meant a lot to me that the guys wanted me to never have a losing season," said Royal after his Longhorns jubilantly carried him off Broyles has had two losing seasons in his 19 years at Arkansas. The Razorbacks also were 5-5-1 this year.

Sixth-ranked Houston, 9-2 and headed for a New Year's date with undefeated Maryland, rallied to beat Miami 21-16 Saturday. Houston quarterback Danny Davis ran for four and 25-yard touchdowns. The game was Miami's last under Coach Carl Selmer, who was

Red Sox set sights on Blue

LOS ANGELES(AP) — The Boston Red Sox, who were foiled in their attempt to land some of Charlie Finley's top talent last season, now have set their sights on acquiring Oakland pitching ace Vida Blue.

Most baseball officials were on hand Sunday for baseball's annual meetings which officially began today. Finley, whose A's have been depleted through defections, was not due until Tuesday, by which time the trading market should swing into full gear.

The Red Sox, who won the 1975 American League pennant but slipped to third place this year, realize they will have to make some moves to keep close to the 1976 champion New York Yankees. The Yanks grabbed two prize plums among the free agents - slugger Reggie Jackson and pitcher Don

Baltimore, which finished second in the AL East, is considerably weaker with the loss of Jackson, second baseman Bobby Grich and 20-game winner Wayne Garland.

Finley dealt Blue to the Yankees last June 15 for $1.5 million only to have the deal nullified by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. The commissioner also killed Finley's $2 million sale of outfielder Joe Rudi and reliever Rollie Fingers to the Red Sox on the same day. Finley is suing Kuhn and the case is scheduled to go to court in Chicago Dec. 13.

In the final of the Division III playoffs, St. John's, Minn. edged Towson State 31-28 in the Amos Alonzo Stagg Bowl.

In the semifinals of the NAIA Division I playoffs, Texas A&I crushed Western State, Colo. 57-14, and Central Arkansas beat Elon 10-7. Westminister beat Redlands 20-13 for the NAIA Division II football championship.

In Saturday's bowl games, Salisbury State walloped Inter-American 61-0 in the Cocoa Bowl at Puerto Rico; Abilene Christian beat Harding 22-12 in the Pasadena Shrine Bowl, and Florida A&M downed Central State, Ohio, in the Orange Blossom Classic.

Plains uses balance to stop Southeastern

Madison Plains won its second game of the season Saturday night with a 56-50 win over Southeastern High School. Six-foot-five Gary Self led the Eagles in scoring with 14 points, eight on free throws. Senior Doug Sifrit also hit double figures with 10 points.

Southeastern placed three players in double digits for the contest. Bill Carr led the Trojans with 12 points followed by Jim Hart and Joe Danion with 10 points each.

Plains scored 13 points in each of the first three quarters and then hit for 17 in the final period to win the game. They held Southeastern to just 22 points in the last half while scoring 30.

The Eagles, now 2-1 overall and 0-1 in SCOL play, meet Washington C.H. in the Lions' gym Tuesday night.

Raiders get new cheerleaders

By HOWARD SMITH

AP Sports Writer The Pittsburgh Steelers continue to chew up the opposition and pray for a miracle. Tonight they will pray in front of a television set.

"We're going to try to will the Raiders to victory," said Pittsburgh linebacker Andy Russell. "We'll be the biggest bunch of cheerleaders the Oakland Raiders ever had."

Oakland plays Cincinnati tonight and a Bengals' victory probably would mean no playoffs for the Steelers.

"I'm going to watch the ball game," said tackle Joe Greene, "but I'm ready to go South," referring to his home in Texas. "I think Oakland is going to play to win, but they have nothing to lose or gain and I just can't see them beating Cincinnati under those conditions.

But he will be rooting for the Raiders, anyway. The Steelers, having

But unless Cincinnati loses one of its last two games, the Steelers, Super Bowl champions for the past two years, will not make the playoffs.

Since Cincinnati plays the lowly New York Jets next week, tonight's game should decide the American Football Conference Central Division crown and the final AFC playoff spot. Pittsburgh is 9-4. Cincinnati is 9-3. The Steelers will win the division if they end in a tie with the Bengals.

Meanwhile, New England dumped New Orleans 27-6, insuring itself of its first playoff berth. If the Pats win next week and Baltimore loses, New England will win the AFC East. If not, the Patriots will get into the playoffs as a wild card team. Dallas wrapped up the National Football Conference East Division title with a 26-7 victory over Philadelphia, Washington kept its playoff hopes alive with a 37-16 romp over the New York Jets and Cleveland remained in the running for a playoff spot by edging Houston 13-10.

Elsewhere, Minnesota topped Green Bay 20-9, Miami outlasted Buffalo 45-27, San Diego downed San Francisco 13-7 in overtime, Denver shaded Kansas City 17-16, the New York Giants beat Detroit 24-10 and Chicago rocked Seattle 34-7.

In Saturday's games, St. Louis beat with eight straight victories, including Baltimore 24-17 and Los Angeles embarrassed Atlanta 59-0.

Patriots 27, Saints 6 Steve Grogan ran for two touchdowns and threw for two for New England. Grogan has run for 11 TDs this season, tying him with Johnny Lujack of Chicago (1950) and Tobin Rote of Green Bay (1956) for the NFL record for quarterbacks. Fullback Don Calhoun, continuing to fill in for the injured Sam Cunningham, ran for 113 yards in 22 carries, his fourth straight 100-yard plus effort.

Cowboys 26, Eagles 7

Roger Staubach completed 22 of 29 passes for 253 yards and one touchdown as Dallas wrapped up its division championship for the eighth time in the last 11 years. Philadelphia managed only 42 yards through the air.

Redskins 37, Jets 16 Billy Kilmer threw for three touchdowns and John Riggins carried 19 times for 104 yards and scored twice against his former teammates. Washington is tied with St. Louis at 9-4 in the NFC East but has beaten the Cardinals twice this season. Thus, the Redskins can wrap up the NFC wild card playoff berth next Sunday by beating Dallas.

Browns 13, Oilers 10 Brian Sipe tossed a 37-yard touchdown pass to Paul Warfield and Don Cockroft booted a pair of clutch field goals as surprising Cleveland won its fifth straight game, keeping its playoff hopes mathmatically alive. The Browns can get into the playoffs only if they win their final game and both Pittsburgh and Cincinnati lose theirs. The Cleveland defense held Houston to Freddie Solomon returned a punt 79 yards for one touchdown, ran 59 yards from scrimmage for another and scored a third on a 53-yard pass play for Miami. That helped offset another brilliant show by Buffalo's O.J. Simpson, who carried 24 times for 203 yards. It was Simpson's sixth 200-yard game, an NFL record. He gained 111 yards in the first quarter alone. Don Strock, who went all the way at quarterback in place of Bob Griese for the Dolphins, threw for two TDs and ran for a third.

Chargers 13, 49ers 7 Mercury Morris capped a nine-play 93-yard San Diego drive by racing 13 yards around left end for a touchdown five minutes into overtime. Rickey Young picked up 40 yards in the drive in four carries.

Craig Morton hooked up with Ed Marshall on touchdown passes of 35 and 11 yards as New York, 3-10 over-all, evened its record at 3-3 under Coach John McVay. Detroit, which lost the ball three times on fumbles and twice on pass interceptions, fell to 6-7.

Bears 34, Seahawks 7 Walter Payton rambled for 183 yards on 27 carries and Bob Avellini fired three touchdown passes within a threeminute span in the third quarter for Chicago. Payton, who had 114 yards in the first half, has gained 1,341 yards this season, breaking the club record of 1,-231 set by Gale Sayers in 1966.

MU cagers have no intention of repeating football campaign

By GEORGE STRODE

AP Sports Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami's basketball team is having no part of the act its football squad put on, a flop after being to picked to win the Mid-American Conference title.

The Redskins, perhaps the most lopsided favorite ever to win the MAC basketball title, crunched Cleveland State 113-63 Saturday for a 2-0 start and Coach Darrell Hedric sounded almost apologetic.

"I can't tell the kids not to go in and score," said Hedric. "I said, 'Go out and play to your potential.'

"Coach (Ray) Derringer thinks this is his most talented team. Cleveland State hasn't jelled yet."

Western Michigan, the champion a year ago, showed no signs of falling off this season, ruining Michigan State's home debut 74-73. Mike Reardon's two free throws with 18 seconds left won it for the Broncos.

Elsewhere, all in nonconference games, Bowling Green thumped Findlay 98-69, Kent State held off rival Akron 80-78, Northern Illinois mastered Centenary 72-68 and Ohio University fell to Northwestern 73-71.

Miami, which jolted Big Ten power Purdue in its opener, ruined Cleveland State with numbers. Twelve Redskins scored, five in double figures led by 18 apiece by Rich Babcock and Archie

Aldridge. "The reserves did a super job," said Hedric. "I was just interested in getting my bench in some playing time." Western Michigan overcame a 46-39 deficit at Michigan State, which lost three regulars on personal fouls. The Spartan departees included top scorer Bob Chapman, with 25 points.

The Broncos also lost all-conference center Tom Cutter on personals and relied on balanced scoring in his absence. Marty Murray led the parade with 12 points.

Billy McKinney, who scored 22 points, sank a foul shot with eight seconds left to clinch Northwestern's victory at Ohio. Ernie Whitus paced the 1-1 Bobcats with 20 points.

Burrel McGhee scored seven points in the final minutes to help Kent State, 2-1, hold off Akron, 0-2. The Flashes nearly blew an 11-point lead with 11 minutes to go.

Coaches announced for All-Star game

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Bill Ricco of Stow Walsh Jesuit and Jack Gordon coach the opposing sides in the 1977 Ohio High School Football All-Star classic, still without a home.

Jeff Wilkins, a 7-foot center, pumped in 28 points to help Illinois State scuttle Central Michigan, losing its first in three decisions. Leonard Drake paced the Chippewas with 28 points.

Tommy Harris counted 20 of his 26 points in the first half, helping Bowling Green to a 47-37 lead. The Falcons, 2-0, punished shorter Findlay on the boards

Mr. H. F., Ga.

Dear Mr. F .: One of the characteristics of gout is that attacks can recur at unpredictable intervals. An injury, an infection, overindulgence in alcohol or in certain types of foods, and even some drugs, may precipitate an attack of gout. Sometimes people with a gouty tendency may have an episode following surgery. Gout is a disturbance in the manufacture and retention of uric acid. It occurs to me that since you have a predisposition to gout why aren't you taking the excellent drugs that can reduce the accumulation of uric acid in your blood?

seepage of blood. If such marks are extensive and seem unrelated to any kind of injury, then a study of the blood is necessary. Highly complex tests can show deficiencies of the bloodclotting mechanism and reveal any tendency towards unusual bleeding.

Is a spur on the heel a form of arthritis? How can the pain be relieved?

Mr. D. L., Calif.

Dear Mr. L.: Spurs are deposits of calcium in the tendons of the muscles of the heel. They are not considered a form of arthritis. Those who have them testify how painful they can be unless they are protected by rubber and foam rubber sponges to avoid further injury.

Plan survey on foliage

WASHINGTON (AP) Agriculture Department plans to make a survey early next year to find out more about the nation's flower and foliage plant crops.

Officials said the survey will begin in January and will run through mid-February in 27 major producing states, including five to be surveyed for the first time: Alabama, Arkansas,

Georgia, Kansas and Virginia.

Production and sales of potted and cut flowers, foliage and other so-called floriculture have risen in recent years.

In the past, surveys have concentrated on carnations, chrysanthemums, gladioli, roses and foliage plants. This time, the department said, potted poinsettias, potted lilies, potted hydrangeas, potted geraniums, cut snapdragons, and vegetable and flowering bedding plants will be added.

Christmas tree business large

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - When you purchase your Christmas tree this year, you may not realize you are contributing to a major business.

According to William Cowen, extension forester at The Ohio State University, said the National Christmas Tree Growers Association reported 35 million natural Christmas trees sold last year in this country.

The association said the annual value of the trees is $70 million, but by the time they get to the retail level, this figure reaches $210 million.

Cowen estimates Ohio's contribution to his at about 400,000 trees a year worth around $1 million. Because of the great demand, this huge crop does not meet Ohio's needs and thousands of trees are imported annually from Canada, Michigan, Pennsylvania and other states, he said.

Ross County sheriff's deputies reported Jeffrey Allen Conaway, 18, of Rt. 1, Lyndon, was killed at 5 p.m. Saturday in the one-car accident on Lower Twin Road in Ross County. Deputies said Conaway lost control of the car he was driving eastbound on a series of curves about six miles north of U.S. 50.

The car, carrying no passengers, slid off the right side of the road, smashing broadside into a tree, sheriff's deputies reported. Conaway was pronounced dead at the scene of the accident.

Born in Greenfield, he was a 1976 graduate of Greenfield McClain High School. He was a member of the South Salem Methodist Church.

He is survived by his parents, Al and Jane Storts Conaway; two sisters, Laura and Angela, both at home; a brother, Michael, at home; his paternal foster grandmother, Mrs. Anna Schmidt, of South Salem, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Rob (Marguerite) Storts, Rt. 1, Lyndon.

Services will be held at 3:30 p.m. Tuesday in the Murray Funeral Home, Greenfield, with the Rev. Ken Marckel officiating. Burial will be in South Salem Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 4 p.m. today.

Russian rock stars get state salaries

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - In the United States, musicians who sell 10 million records and draw capacity to concerts crowds millionaires. In the USSR, they get a government salary.

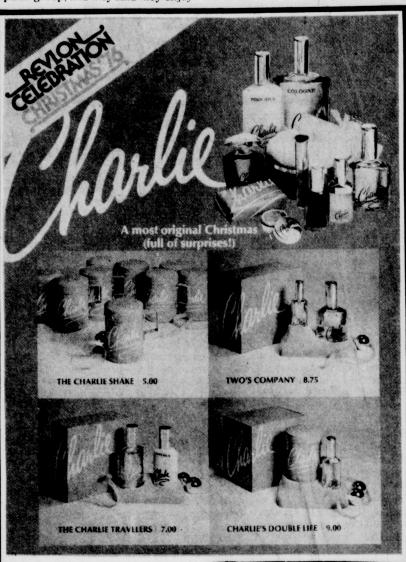

Members of the Russian folkrock group Pesnyary made clear in an interview Sunday that it's a long way from their home base of Minsk to Morgantown, N.C., where they won a standing ovation on their first American tour.

The eight musicians say they're proud of their claim to be Russia's most popular group, and they said they enjoy being recognized on Soviet streets. But they insist they cannot be called 'stars.

Pesnyary performed here Saturday night as part of a nine-day visit to mostly small Southeastern towns. The group is sharing the bill with the New Christy Minstrels, whose promoters are hoping for an invitation to the Soviet Union in return. The Russians said their salary is not small, and that with royalties from record sales they earn about as much as a Soviet doctor or lawyer. But they could never pull down $1 million or more from a single concert, they said, as some Western rock groups do.

MEETING ST. NICK - A youngster eyes Santa Claus with wonderment following Saturday's Christmas Parade in Washington C.H. Santa Claus brought up the rear of the parade stopping at the Fayette County Courthouse to hear gift requests from area youths and to distribute candy.

Mother Nature smiles on Yule parade

With Mother Nature and a large number of volunteers cooperating, the 1976 Washington C.H. Christmas parade filed down Court Street Saturday to the pleasure of hundreds of spectators lining the route.

Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce executive vice president George Malek said, "a lot of people put forth a lot of effort" to make the annual parade a success. He attributed the enthusiastic participation and crowd to the above freezing temperatures.

Malek added that he was extremely pleased with the nine homemade floats which followed parade grand marshal Joseph Peters along with a number of commercial floats and marching bands.

The New Holland Methodist Youth Fellowship organization float was judged "best of show" before the parade began. A $100 prize was awarded along with a plaque donated by the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce

Christian Union float took runnerup honors and received $50 from the Chamber of Commerce.

The homemade float judging was handled by Washington C.H. City Council member Bertha McCullough, Shirley Fenter and Thomas Bukolt while Malek judged the commercial floats.

The Happy Star Belles Bluebirds group received $75 for having the best costumes. Girl Scout Troop No. 1056 was awarded a $25 second prize.

A float entered by the Washington Senior High School Cooperative Office Education class won the $75 first prize for "most keeping with theme." The Kiddie Care Day Care Center took the $25 second prize

The "best of show" float in the commercial category was a miniature train rented by the Wicaka Manuka Camp Fire Girls group. The most colorful commercial float was entered the Fayette Area Bankers Association.

Malek said the total cost of the parade including cash awards exceeded $1,300. Most of the proceeds ($500) for the annual event came from the Community Chest. County and city governments donated $165, area merchants raised $400 and the Community Improvement Corporation added $100 to cover the cost of the Following the 2 p.m. parade Saturday, Santa Claus distributed over $600 boxes of candy to area youths. With only a few exceptions, the crowd waiting on the steps of the Fayette County Courthouse was very orderly Malek said.

Malek and the Chamber of Commerce wishes to extend special thanks to the Night Owls Citizen Band Radio Club which helped direct the parade, the local Civil Air Patrol Squadron for providing crowd control around Santa Claus, the Washington C.H. Police Department and the Fayette County Sheriff's Department, and the judges of the queen competition and the floats. Malek also thanked the city street department which erected the Christmas decorations, barricades, and insured that there were no automobiles parked along Court Street.

Eight charges lodged in high-speed chase

A Washington C.H. man was charged with eight traffic violations following a high-speed chase early Sunday which covered 12 city blocks.

Washington C.H. police officers said David Redden, 25, of 321 N. Main St., was charged with speeding, no operator's license, two stop sign violations, reckless operation, leaving the scene of an accident, backing without safety and fleeing from a police officer following the incident at 3:27 a.m. Sunday. According to the report, while on routine patrol Police Sgt. William Robinson and auxiliary patrolman John Bane observed a 1970 model Chevrolet strike a sign at the intersection of W. Market and Draper

Sgt. Robinson said the driver of the auto fled the scene of the accident eastbound on Temple Street. The police officers gave chase and said the driver reached speeds in excess of 80 miles per hour, running several stop signs and red lights in the process The high-speed chase covered 12 city blocks in the residential areas on the east end of Washington C.H. Sgt. Robinson stated. The report stated the driver stopped the vehicle on Forest Street near the Rawlings Street intersection and then fled from the car on foot. Police officers lost the driver as he fled through the neighborhood.

Sgt. Robinson said two of the passengers in the auto willfully identified Redden as the driver of the auto and he was subsequently located at his residence and charged with the eight traffic violations.

Redden was scheduled to appear in Washington C.H. Municipal Court Monday on the charges, after having been released on a $750 bond.

House Demos choose leaders

Democrats picking new leaders today were certain to elect Rep. Thomas P O'Neill as House speaker, but they had to settle a tight race for House majority leader among four candidates battling to succeed O'Neill

The legislative leaders being chosen today will be working with a president of their own party for the first time in House Carl Albert of Oklahoma, who has held the post since 1971.

The apparent front-runner for majority leader, the No. 2 spot, was Rep. Phillip Burton of California, the hard-driving, ambitious chairman of the Democratic Caucus.

But Burton was pressed hard by Reps. Richard Bolling of Missouri, a parliamentary expert who has written extensively on the problems of the O'Neill, of Massachusetts, had no House, and Jim Wright of Texas, who has long worked on the fringes of the opposition to succeed retiring Speaker Billy Carter after mayor's job

after Jimmy Carter defeated an incumbent to win the presidency, his younger brother Billy faced his own election test today, seeking to oust the mayor of Plains. Billy is challenging Mayor A.L. Blanton of Plains, an air traffic controller and parttime barber. Carter's platform stresses resistance to the change that President-elect Carter's status has brought to this crossroads town with a population of 683.

It will be the second political campaign for Billy Carter. He lost to Blanton two years ago by six votes and is not optimistic about his chances now.

'I gain a few votes by the Carter name, but I think I'll lose more because some people think, because the Carters PLAINS, Ga. (AP) - Just 36 days run the country, why should they run Plains," Billy Carter said.

He commented in an interview that was repeatedly interrupted by tourists asking him to pose for photographs or to sign autographs. They even pursued him when he retreated to the back room of his filling station to sit on a stack of beer cases and chat with a reporter

The younger Carter has often expressed anguish at the congestion and commercialization that accompanied his brother's rise to fame.

He said his principal task as mayor would be to retain restrictive zoning laws to prevent "outside money" from taking over. He said he would discourage changes that would mar the town's placid character cent, Mrs. Douglass said. The county health department reported that persons in the 18-24 age group, who have received a first swine flu vaccine, can contact their family physicians for a second inoculation. For further information, the health department can be contacted at 335-5910.

leadership and who appeals to the party center. The fourth candidate, Rep. John J. McFall of California, now holds the third-ranking position of whip. But he was expected to be the first eliminated. His campaign, slow to get off the ground, was dealt a blow by the recent disclosure that he received $4,000 from South Korean businessman Tongsun

McFall said Park asked for no favors and that the money was put in his office account and used for official purposes

The decision was not likely until late today, after a series of votes eliminated the contenders one by one. Voting was by secret ballot.

At a Sunday session with newly elected Democrats, O'Neill sought to quash reports that he would be unhappy with Burton as a team-mate as well as to settle any doubts as to who would be in charge.

"I can work with any member you elect," O'Neill told the freshmen. "No member is going to push Tip O'Neill around if he's in the second spot. Once you give me the leadership role, I'll be the leader — and make no mistake about it.

The give-and-take with the new members disclosed concern with two issues. One is Congress' poor public image, further dimmed by sex and payroll scandals earlier this year and the disclosures of gifts and favors to several members by Korean interests.

There was also questioning about how a Democratic-controlled Congress that increasingly asserted its independence during eight years of Republican rule in the White House would relate to the Democratic administration of Jimmy Carter, who has plans of his own

Burton, who appeared with the other three candidates for majority leader on NBC's "Meet the Press," urged new members not to set up "office accounts," the unofficial accounts made up of leftover campaign contributions and gifts from friends

Bolling called for a stronger code of ethics, more extensive financial disclosure and control of lobbying. But he said public dissatisfaction with Congress goes beyond ethical considerations and into concern with the lawmakers' performance in solving national problems.

Cook plans fight against demotion

D. Cook planned to go to Gov. James A. Rhodes today with a letter announcing he will fight his demotion by Rhodes. Then, Cook said, he will make the letter public.

Cook would not say what was in the letter, but he said, "When you're right, you fight. That's what I intend to do." Rhodes reassigned Cook to supervision of the crime prevention office. Bureau of Motor Vehicles Registrar Curtis Andrews was renamed deputy director of the transportation department. Andrews accepted his new assignment Cook said Sunday he was not concerned about what might be revealed if there were an investigation into the department's operations. He said he would welcome such a probe to "clear the record."

Cook also said he could not understand why Rhodes would not discuss

Patrol and local police agencies. The system was put back into roundthe-clock operation Friday night.

"I ordered it weeks ago," Cook told the Elyria Chronical Telegram in a copyrighted story. "Patrol wanted it. Police wanted it. How come they can do it in less than one day after they fire me and they couldn't do it for weeks after I ordered it done? That's the insubordination I was talking about."

The governor's reassignments in the Transportation Department led to the resignations of two officials, including Rhodes' brother-in-law, David B.

Ewing said he believes incoming Highway Safety Director Robert M. Chiaramonte should be able to select his own staff, but added he will remain if Chiaramonte wants him.

Wachendorf called for a state Senate investigation into an alleged coverup of BMV activities.

"The entire BMV episode and the coverup by the governor's office is both shameful and disgraceful," Wachendorf said.

"The governor and his associates had been told on numerous occasions of the deplorable conditions of the BMV. However, these revelations were covered up and no action was ever tak-

TOKYO (AP) - Roused from their usual complacency by Lockheed and other money scandals, Japanese voters gave the ruling conservatives of the Liberal-Democratic party a stinging rebuke.

In elections Sunday to fill the 511 seats in the lower house of the Diet, the Japanese parliament, the Liberal-Democrats won only 249 seats, seven short of a majority. It was the first time since the party made its debut 21 years ago that it failed to win a majority.

The party's headquarters announced today that eight independents elected Sunday joined the party, a customary happening after Japanese elections This gave the Liberal-Demcrats 257 seats, or a majority of three. But it was in sharp contrast to the 51-seat majority the party won in the 1972

Miki was re-elected to the lower house, but the setback to his party will probably result in his replacement as prime minister by his former deputy and longtime rival, Takeo Fukuda.

The opposition seats were widely divided. The Socialists had won 123, Komeito (Clean Government) 55, the Democratic Socialists 29, the new Liberal Club 17, independents 21 and the Communists 17.

In turning away from the conservatives, the voters went to the middle of the political spectrum. The big gainers were the Komeito party, which picked up 25 seats; the Democratic Socialists, which gained 10; and

The results appeared to spell the end of Miki's tenacious, uphill struggle to remain in power. Named prime minister by elders of the party in 1974 to restore its battered image after the resignation under a cloud of Prime Minister Kakuei Tanaka, Miki was done in by the Lockheed scandal.

Birth control pill brochure pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) - Women who months before a woman tries to buy birth control pills soon will also get a brochure from their pharmacists that lists the hazards and benefits of the medication, the Food and Drug Administration says.

The FDA announced Sunday it plans to require that a new brochure be given to each of the 8 million to 10 million American women who use the pill. The brochures would be supplied by drug companies to pharmacists, who would enclose one each time a woman got a new or renewal prescription.

The brochure will explain the health hazards that have been linked to the pill. Until now, such information has been available from a woman's doctor only if she requested it.

It will also tell women that the pill has been shown to be the most effective contraceptive on the market.

The new brochure would advise women that birth control pills:

-Should not be taken by women over the age of 40 because of the increased risk of heart attacks. -Should never be taken by pregnant women because they may injure the -Should be discontinued three become pregnant, to avoid potential birth defects. -Should be discontinued at least four weeks before any type of surgery that would involve increased risk of blood clotting or prolonged bed rest, because pill users are four to six times more likely to have blood clots after surgery than those not on the pill.

-Appear to be associated with nonmalignant liver tumors which, although rare, can be fatal if they rupture and result in internal bleeding.

-Have not been linked to cancer, although women taking them should be carefully monitored by their doctors for abnormal uterine bleeding and lumps in the breasts.

The FDA's proposed brochure would say that birth control pills are more effective than any other form of contraception, short of surgical sterilization, and would compare the risks of the pill with other methods as well as the risks of pregnancy itself.

Drug companies also would be required to expand the summary of information included in every pill packet, and to make major revisions in information about the pill distributed to physicians within 120 days.

Thomas "Bert" Lance, Carter's choice to be be director of the Office of Management and Budget, said Sunday that a tax cut early in the new administration is "virtually certain."

Asked at an informal news conference about the certainty of a tax cut, Carter replied: "It's too early to decide. I wouldn't say it was virtually certain although it is one of the possibilities.

Lance told the Los Angeles Times that a tax cut of up to $15 billion possibly in the form of a rebate on 1976 income taxes — probably will be proposed by Carter. He suggested that a tax cut will be part of a package to stimulate the economy that will include a jobs program and tax investment credits to spur industrial expansion.

an extensive review of national health insurance," said a report to the AMA's 30th clinical convention. "The reason: It is important that the position of the association be made clear at an early date. AMA officials fear that if they don't support some form of insurance, Congress will pass one they oppose. The urgency stems at least in part from concern that President-elect Carter, who has endorsed national health insurance, will move early in his administration toward introducing legislation on the subject. "Let me say, right off, that the presidential election has made our future a good deal foggier as a profession," said Dr. Richard E. Palmer, president of the AMA, at the opening session on Sunday. The AMA supports a version of national health insurance that would give workers the option of joining and which would operate through the private insurance industry, with no The AMA's Board of Trustees, in a special report to the delegates, recommended that this support be continued. But several delegations have filed resolutions opposing AMA support for any form of national health insurance. These include delegations from Nebraska, Louisiana, Illinois, South Carolina and New Mexico. On the other side, a joint resolution supporting the official AMA stand was introduced by the Maine, Vermont,

New Hampshire, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island delegations. The AMA is opposed to the insurance proposal backed by organized labor and introduced in the last Congress by Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., and Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif. The Kennedy-Corman system would be mandatory and not involve private firms. 'We cannot face the issue by turning our backs to it," Palmer said. "If we are to offer nothing in the way of NHI (national health insurance) legislation, we run the terrible risk of getting clobbered with everything. Everything would be the Kennedy-Corman bill, all at once or blow by blow.'

Stock prices move higher

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market churned ahead in active trading today, responding to expectations of early moves by the administration of President-elect Carter to stimulate the economy.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose about a point in the early going. Advances took a 3-2 lead over declines among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

Bertram Lance, Carter's future director of the Office of Management and Budget, said over the weekend he saw a tax cut as a strong likelihood. Carter himself said today, however, that he was not yet convinced a tax reduction would be needed. He told re-

MIDDLEBURG, Va. (AP) Elizabeth Taylor's seventh honeymoon takes her abroad tonight as she leaves for Jerusalem with her new husband, former Navy secretary John Warner.

The 44-year-old movie actress and Warner were married Saturday on a hilltop at his nearby countryside estate, which will be the couple's principal home.

The Rev. Neal Morgan of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, who presided, said Sunday, "I felt very happy and very good about this. I was privileged to have it.

He said the ceremony lasted 15 minutes and was witnessed by about 50 friends. It was followed by a reception at the estate.

Israel is just the first stop on the honeymoon. Miss Taylor will be guest of honor at a hospital fund-raising dinner in Jerusalem, and Warner, 49, who was chairman of the American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, will dedicate a Bicentennial forest in Israel.

Then it's on to Miss Taylor's childhood home in Kent, England. The Warners plan to be at her home in Gstaad, Switzerland, for Christmas. The marriage is Warner's second. Miss Taylor has had six previous husbands, including actor Richard Burton, whom she married and divorced twice. The actress said she gave Warner a gold wedding band made from an ornament she gave her father shortly before his death. Warner gave his bride a ring that his father gave his mother 50 years ago.

Weatherman unhappy too

AKRON, Ohio (AP) - If the cold gray days are beginning to get to you, it might be some consolation knowing that at least one weather man is pretty fed up with the conditions, too. In a special statement from the

Akron office of the National Weather Service, forecaster Al Oliver reported today that Akron's temperature averaged 16 degrees fahrenheit the past seven days. That's 17.5 degrees below normal for this period. Three new record lows have been set at the Akron-Canton airport in the past week-two of them below zero. Besides that, Akron's temperature hasn't been above freezing the whole time. The average high has been 25.7 degrees, and Oliver points out that is .7 degree below the normal average low for the first week of December.

The mercury was expected to creep above freezing today, but only briefly.

Cincinnati lays off 200 workers

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police officer Greg Guy begrudgingly turned in his badge and revolver Saturday night-a victim of a massive budget-cutting layoff which left 200 city workers looking for new jobs.

"I feel cheated. Like they gave me a taste of something, then took it away,' said Guy, who had been a member of the police force more than two years.

The City of Cincinnati, faced with a projected $12.7 million deficit in 1977 after voters recently rejected a city earnings tax, furloughed 94 policemen, 67 firemen and 51 sanitation workers over the weekend.

Newly-installed Mayor James Luken said the drastic action points up the increasing budget dilemmas facing cities around the country.

'You can't watch these things happening in New York and cities all around you and think it's not going to happen to you," said Luken, who took office Dec. 1.

Carter steps in on steel hike

following the election, Presidentelect Carter was at pains to note that he was not yet in office and thus had little or no power to influence affairs. This well-intentioned disclaimer does not wholly jibe with the facts of American political life.

However determined the winner of a presidential election may be to avoid even the appearance of interfering, what he says is bound to have an effect on events. Perhaps in acceptance of this, Carter now seems to be backing away from his earlier stance of aloofness.

This was indicated by his response to the steel companies' nouncement of a six per cent price increase on flat-rolled steel products, which are used mainly in automobiles and other consumer goods. Under the guidelines he had previously set for himself he might have said nothing. As it is, he revealed in a television interview that he had sought informally to persuade the steel companies to roll back the projected increase.

In elaborating on this, the president-elect elated steel price increases to the prospect of further boosts in oil prices by the oilexporting nations. "If prices are going up," he said, "I think it would be a good excuse for Iran and other nations to way, 'Well, if you increase steel prices in the middle of our oil meetings, then it's legitimate for us to raise our oil prices," This is of particular interest because it was in reference to prices on imported oil that Carter had previously stressed his lack of authority until he takes

Now, in spite of this supposed handicap, he is seeking to bring his influence to bear on the steel companies. That makes sense, considering the inflationary impact of a steel price boost. Still, it is a significant departure from the notion that a president-elect is in no position to play an active role.

Footnote: The steel industry, not bemused by the notion that an incoming president is above the battle, has offered to explain the price boost

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . By Marquis Childs

WASHINGTON - How to get a increase. A better example of the bigger piece of the pie while the getting economics of scarcity and the way is good. That, in the simplest possible prices are as carefully attuned as the terms, is the meaning of the steel price tuning of a violin could hardly be found.

small to giant, agree to raise prices 6 per cent on the kind of steel that goes into automobiles, refrigerators and most of the things consumers buy, the industry is running at barely more than 57 per cent capacity. So you charge more for less, with competitition a back-alley joke.

The timing of this stroke is especially interesting. It comes on the eve of the meeting of the OPEC nations to decide how large their oil price increase should be

In an interview with the Shah of Iran in Tehran, columnist Joseph Kraft quotes the Shah as saying that a 15 per cent increase is his "starting point. One may well ask why the OPEC nations should show any restraint whatsoever in view of what is happening on this side of the Atlantic.

The principal arbiters of the economy-the steel companies and, just back of them, the auto companies are going ahead without any regard for the inflationary consequences of their acts. Conservation is another back-alley joke, with the gas-guzzlers outselling small cars.

Timing on the political side is also interesting. President Ford, in the declining weeks of his presidency, has neither the will nor the capacity to act steel prices. Indeed it is questionable whether he would have acted effectively if he had had another full term ahead of him. Down in Plains, Ga., is Jimmy

Carter, the president-elect. He can give interviews and speak reprovingly of the steel price increase, but he has no power to act. Whether he will have the force of character to take any action that might conceivably work, "ex post facto," we shall not know until after-

How big a bump steel and oil will give to inflation, no one can say at this point. That it will be a bump can hardly be doubted.

Add to this the increase in the price of natural gas, which has just gone into effect - part of the Ford dubious strategy of de-regulation - and the present rate of 5 per cent or 6 per cent is likely to go in the new year to 7 per cent or 8 per cent

What a welcome for Carter! He will be faced with an upward price movement that must seem out of control at the same time that unemployment is close to 8 per cent.

The heart of Carter's dilemma is that the measures he would presumably advance to bring down the jobless rate would, in the view of moderates and conservatives in Congress, contribute to inflation and whether a new aggressive Congress would approve the Carter proposals is a large question.

On the other side of the political spectrum are those who would use far more radical means to break a stalemate. One example widely discussed is to break up the big oil companies so that they would be limited to a single function. Carter at one point was reported favoring such a proposal.

A bold prophet will say that nothing as radical as this can happen. Yet if arbitrary forces beyond all control can bring about destructive price rises, there will be a hardening on both sides of the political divide.

At the very least it can mean a further slackening of the economy. The auto companies are said to be programming for large sales well into 1977. But if prices go up $100 to $150 a car, their estimates may be proved

During his two years and three months in office with his policy of "slow is beautiful," Ford saw the country sink into the worst recession since the 30s. In the vacuum of leadership during his presidency, he did nothing about prices and precious little about conservation. Conservatives champion him for his vetoes. At least, they say, he did nothing to stimulate prices.

But as we are seeing, this is not enough. The inheritance he has left to his successor is dark and uncertain. Nor does Carter have the advantage of the clean sweep that confronted Franklin Roosevelt when he took over in 1933, with every bank in the country closed and 15,000,000 or more Americans out of work.

That was CRISIS iun capital letters. He had his hundred days for swift action. When that is said, however, it must be remembered that not until the war orders from France and Britain began coming in was there a substantial dent in the mass of the jobless.

Dear Abby:

and don't bug mate

DEAR ABBY: My father was a "Mr. Fixit." He could repair anything. Being the oldest, I had to hold his lights and hand him his tools, so I learned more than the average girl about many

Seven years ago I married my high school sweetheart. He's a sweet guy, but he doesn't own a screwdriver and doesn't want one. He would (and has) walked five miles in a blizzard before he'd change a tire.

I've done all the painting and repair work-even built shelves and cupboards, and fixed electric appliances around here. My husband can't even hold a rake, much less drive a nail.

Last night I went to sleep early. (I'm eight months pregnant.) Somehow he broke the handle off the faucet in our bathroom, so he woke me up. Water was squirting everywhere, and he'd used all the towels in the cupboard to soak it up. I got up, turned off the main water valve (he didn't even know where it was), cleaned up the mess, threw the towels in the dryer and asked him what happened. All he said was, "Don't bug me."

Abby, he's a steady worker, is goodlooking and doesn't drink, and I know he loves me. So what do you do with a guy like that?

DEAR TIRED: You love him for his virtues, overlook his faults, hire a handyman and don't bug him.

DEAR ABBY: I have a beautiful 24year-old college-educated daughter who is getting married soon. Her future husband wants her to keep a kosher kitchen. Do you think she should? PATTERSON, N.J.

DEAR PATTERSON: Not unless

DEAR ABBY: I'm a girl who's nearly 18, and I have this thing about kissing. For some weird reason, kissing turns me off completely. I can't stand to be kissed by a boy, and I can't bring myself to kiss one

Even as a child I hated it when a relative would say, "Come here and give me a kiss.

I am dating a nice boy who has been very patient with me. Most guys would give up on a girl who refused to kiss I know I'm letting my boyfriend down lose him soon because I can't expect him to go with me forever if I don't kiss My Mom tells me to force myself, but because of my hangup and I'll probably

I just can't. Other girls my age seem to enjoy kissing, but it's repulsive to me. Please HATES TO KISS

DEAR HATES: Apparently your

early experiences related to kissing are responsible for your negative feelings. I recommend professional help to overcome your hangup.

Today In History

By The Associated Press Today is Monday, Dec. 6, the 341st day of 1976. There are 25 days left in the Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1941, President Franklin D. Roosevelt made a personal appeal for peace to Emperor Hirohito of Japan. The Pearl Harbor attack came the next day. On this date

In 1847, Abraham Lincoln took his seat as a U.S. Representative from Illinois. In 1889, the President of the Civil War

Confederacy, Jefferson Davis, died. In 1917, about 1,600 people were killed when a Belgian ammunition ship and a French ammunition ship collided at Halifax, Nova Scotia. In 1918, Allied troops occupied Cologne, Germany in World War I. In 1943, during World War II, the Soviets were informed that Dwight D. Eisenhower had been picked to command the Allied invasion of Europe. In 1973, Gerald R. Ford was sworn in as the 40th American Vice President.

Ten years ago: Britain was seeking United Nations sanctions, including a limited oil ban, against the breakaway African territory of Rhodesia. Five years ago: There was sharp fighting between Indian and Pakistani forces, and India recognized East Pakistan as the independent country of Bangladesh. One year ago: President Ford arrived in the Philippines for talks that would include new terms for American air and naval bases in the islands. Today's birthday: Former football coach Lou Little is 83.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, General George Washington, retreating across New Jersey, was moving his command from Trenton to Princeton, and he reported to the Continental Congress that the main British forces were in New Brunswick.

Ohio State Penitentiary in Columbus had 142 inmates in 1826. In that same year state offices occupied only a tenth of the 10 acres set aside for that purpose and the remaining area at Broad and High Streets served as a pasture for cattle.

FBI agent debunks crime-poverty link

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — "Criminals are people who never have jobs when jobs are plentiful," said Thomas Mitchell, special agent in charge of the FBI's Columbus office, after speaking the the Rotary Club here.

His statement was aimed at debunking the theory that crime and poverty are interrelated

"Crime can be controlled," he said, but it "will not change until we change the minds and hearts of people.

The special agent discoursed on crime and criminals during more specific comments about the role of the FBI in the investigation of the kidnapmurder of James J. Garside was an FBI informant between July 1973 and June 1975.

Mitchell stated that the FBI would not have allowed the concurrent bank robbery to proceed if agents had known it was to take place through Garside's

One of the problems in the early settlement of the wilderness territories west of the Allegheny mountains was the claiming of great tracts of land by eastern states such as Virginia, Massachusetts, New York, Con-necticut, Pennsylvania and others. Charters of these original states often read that their territory extended from 'sea to sea." However, after 1786 the matter was settled and the western lands became the property of the United States.-AP

GRAPEFRUIT SHORTCAKE, served with its own Grapefruit Nutmeg Sauce, grings the warmth of Florida, the sunshine citrus capital, to your

Grapefruit Shortcake: a warm gesture on a winter day

When the temperature reads the numbers that count down to winter and we begin to need gloves, and all the other necessities of colder weather it's nice to come home to a cozy house, a good meal and a hearty, sweet dessert. Grapefruit Shortcake, made with golden Florida citrus, will bring a touch of sunshine to the chilliest day.

Fresh grapefruit, the best you can buy, is now in plentiful supply in supermarkets due to an abundant, top quality Sunshine State crop. Grapefruit is a fine 'round-the-clock food, good for breakfast, a lightweight lunch, afternoon pick-me-up, or nighttime snack. But combined with a rich, sturdy shortcake, as it is here, it helps create the satisfying, naturally sweetened dessert we all seem to crave in the winter. And fresh citrus in desserts contributes the extra bonus of natural fiber and vitamin C, both vital to good health.

Jobless cut plan could bring bottlenecks

By JOHN CUNNIFF AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — President-elect Carter's goal of lowering the jobless rate by 1.5 percentage points in 1977 might result in costly bottlenecks, according to a U.S. Chamber of Commerce official.

To achieve this goal, said Jack Carlson, the new chief economist of the derinvestment. Carlson fears that much of the plant and equipment said to be available for use is either obsolete because it requires too much energy to operate or else is impacted by environmental national chamber, would strain the nation's plant capacity, which he views as suffering from serious underinvestment.

When demand for goods exceeds the capacity of the production machinery, a general inflationary situation. chamber fears could be the excuse for imposing wage-price controls.

> Carlson, who joined the chamber a month ago after 12 years of government service under four presidents, believes recent Carter statements and at least one appointment suggest "an inclination to go along with business."

The president-elect's effort to have an harmonious relationship with Arthur F. Burns, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, and his naming of Thomas Lance, a banker, to a high fiscal position, has been reassuring, he said.

In Carlson's view, Carter seems set to pursue a moderate course.

The chamber, whose 62,000 members represent a cross-section of business life, is said however to be concerned that few business people are on the Carter transition team, and that those who are seem to represent a progovernment attitude

For this and other reasons, Carlson said, chamber officials will be closely observing not just Cabinet-level appointments but "second tier, sub-Cabinet people and agencies to whom Congress gives great responsibility and power.

Aside from the immediate concern of measuring and influencing the political scene, the big issues facing business today, in the chamber's view, are a capital shortage and the threat of government intervention in markets. The discouragement of investment in expanded plant and equipment in recent years - because of wars, recessions and wage-price controls has serious ramifications for the job market, Carlson observed.

"To go from 6 per cent to 5 per cent unemployment requires a "massive investment in plant and equipment,' he said. While estimates vary on the actual capital requirements to produce one job, many place the figure at more than $40,000.

In order to encourage capital investment, and in Carlson's view make possible full employment, he believes that profit as a percentage of sales, now around 5 per cent, must rise to 6 or 7 per Calling wage-price controls the 'most pervasive intrusion into the private sector by the federal government," Carlson suggested Carter could do much to build investor confidence by making clear he has no such plans.

Mating calls used to stir up falcons

By GEORGE TIBBITS

Associated Press Writer GREENACRES, Wash. (AP) - As sex objects, Robert Young and Lester Boyd are for the birds.

They bob, they weave, they coo sensuous mating calls and perform food exchange rituals - all to put uptight falcons in the mood for human as a sexual object.' Young and Boyd, a Washington State University zoology technician at both are experienced Pullman, falconers, hunters who use birds of prey in catching animals.

They began using their complex method breeding "cooperative artificial insemination" three years ago as a way to to increase their supply of birds.

The technique has produced about 20

hybrids, the men said. Their favorite variety is the prairie falcon, which has a 21/2-foot wingspan and is protected under federal migratory bird laws.

In Pullman, Boyd begins the process with his stock of mostly male birds. Following the example of wild birds, he offers food to his falcon "mate" while bowing, posturing and warbling seductively. If the courtship ritual succeeds, the male bird hops onto the special hat and deposits semen.

The sperm stays usable for only 12 to 14 hours, so Boyd rushes it to Greenacres by carrier pigeon. He said he uses pigeons because they are reliable and cheap and spare him the 160-mile roundtrip drive.

At Greenacres, Young takes over with his stock of largely female birds. He goes through much the same ritual, and when the female is ready, he implants the semen through a plastic

"Our interest is that it's not so forceful (as other methods), not a traumatic experience for the bird," said Boyd. "We can get more mileage out of the birds."

Young's champion hen is a prairie falcon which has produced 17 eggs this year, 10 of them fertile.

An act of 1852 by the Ohio Legislature limited women and children under 18 to a 10-hour day, the sole regulation of its kind in that period except for a provision forbidding employment of children under 12 in mines, enacted in 1874. Otherwise these were no restrictions on employment of women and children.-AP

Temperamental popcorn shown

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Popcorn is temperamental, and William McNutt wanted to prove it during the recent convention of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

McNutt, director of contract services for the federation, said, "It's very temperamental, from the farmer's point of view."

The Worthington resident displayed a big-time, corn-popping machine at the convention hotel for guests.

McNutt said a lot of work, money and effort goes into the popcorn people serve in homes and buy at movie theatres.

First, it's harder to grow than sweet corn which people eat at meals and field corn which is fed to livestock. Then, McNutt says you don't just take the corn off the cob and pop it. Rather, it has to be graded and dried for

Without that preparation, McNutt says it just won't pop.

Farmers in Ohio produced 750,000 pounds of cern for popping this year.

Coleman may put off air bags

sportation Secretary William T Coleman Jr. was expected to decide against requiring auto makers to install air bags as safety devices on new

Sources said Coleman, who was to announce his decision today, probably would suggest that more testing be done on the controversial devices before they are installed. The sources said he also probably will urge that states adopt laws that require motorists to buckle their seat belts to protect them in any accident.

The secretary's announcement about air bags comes after he held public hearings in August where opponents and proponents argued the merits of the device and whether the cost outweighed the potential benefits.

The secretary gave notice earlier that he was giving heavy weight to the philosophical question of how far the government should go to protect lazy and careless drivers from themselves. Air bags are designed to protect this passive restraints on some cars.

segment of the population.

Air bags are inflatable devices that pop out of the dashboard or steering wheel when a car is in an accident. The cushion catches the driver and front seat passengers and keeps them from hitting the car interior.

The bags inflate in less than one twenty-fifth of a second and deflation begins immediately after inflation stops. The whole process takes less

Coleman was known to be considering five possible courses of action: keep the present law that allows manufacturers to offer passive safety devices such as air bags and take no further action; keep the present law but require that air bags be tested further; keep the present law but urge states to adopt laws requiring drivers to use their seat belts; change the law to require auto makers to offer passive restraints such as air bags on all cars; or change the law to require auto makers to offer

The bags have been around for years, and General Motors has sold several thousand cars with the bags as an option. The devices have become favorites of auto-safety crusaders who believe seat belts will never be effective because too many passengers do not use them.

The auto industry opposed air bag requirements, while the insurance industry supported the devices. Auto makers contended the devices were unproven and expensive and that seat belts offered the same or better protection at less cost, if drivers would

Three more Minster youths killed in traffic accident

Mercer County Sheriff's deputies said James E. Dues, 17, told them he was driving the car but could not relate how the accident happened. He had been under heavy sedation at Coldwater Community Hospital, Coldwater, where he was reported in guarded condition Sunday night with possible head injuries. Dues was seriously injured in the March accident.

Another passenger, Stephen D. Sommer, 20, also is in Coldwater Hospital in serious condition with mutiple lacerations and bruises, the hospital reported.

Sommer and Bruns reportedly had worked late before the accident in a local pizza parlor operated by Sommer's father. Quinlin, a member of the Minster football team and the National Honor Society, had been helping out with parking at the school basketball game Saturday night.

By JAY SHARBUTT AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — CBS has this private eye series called "Switch." It has an excop teamed with a former conman. Together, they solve crimes.

Now consider: ABC tonight is airing one episode of its postponed "Feather and Father" series. Feather is a young lady lawyer, Father a former con man who investigates for her. Together, they solve crimes

Anyone tells you networks fear fresh ideas, you tell him to go smoke a banana.

ABC's innovation stars Stefanie Powers as the lady barrister and Harold Gould as her flim-flam father Tonight's varn concerns a two-star

Air Force general (William Windom) who illegally profited in a $22-million defense contract award by giving inside information to the award-winning aircraft company

The general, who is driven about by a clean-cut young sergeant, is being blackmailed by a former accountant for the aircraft company. The bookkeeper wants big hush money.

Whereupon the general drives over him in a car. The sergeant, not in the car at the time, winds up framed on charges of manslaughter and hit-andrun driving. Enter Feather, defense attorney

Enter Father, investigator, when the sergeant sees a newspaper picture of the departed and thinks the general knew him somehwere.

Enter four of Father's old bunco artist cronies. A plot is hatched to deceive the general, break his air-tight alibi, free the sergeant and make the guilty party a two-star prisoner.

The various flim-flams laid on the general are fairly amusing, but mercy, the scenes, dialogue and plotwork leading up to all this could make a show called "The Original Amateur Half-Hour.

As a series, "Feather and Father" was to begin this fall on Saturdays at 10 p.m. EST, until ABC temporarily shelved it.

Now that ABC says it has scheduled one episode for 8 p.m. EST in most parts of the nation, the show is getting what amounts to a try-out in television's sanitized "family hour" period

Readers may recall that a federal judge here recently declared unconstitutional the "family hour" part of the National Association of Broadcasters' code to which all three networks subscribe.

He didn't outlaw the "family hour." only its inclusion in an industry-wide code of conduct. Still, ABC, with CBS and the NAB, plans to appeal the judge's ruling.

Which makes one early scene in tonight's "Feather and Father" seem a bit odd for ABC's family hour fare the scene in which the general coldbloodedly drives over the guy blackmailing him

Neither the actual impact nor blood were depicted in the version we saw in advance. But we did see the victim tumbling about before horrified witnesses as the general's car sped away.

If you watch the show tonight, see if this version airs. If it does, the general may face two serious charges: (a) running over a blackmailer, and (b) running over a family hour.

Vance administrator, not globe-trotter

WASHINGTON (AP) - Cyrus R. Vance, the establishment Wall Street lawyer named by President-elect Carter to be his secretary of state, is a man used to carrying out policy, not creating it.

The 59-year-old West Virginia native has deep and varied experience in foreign affairs, but always as a No.2, a chief of staff. Given his previous statements, that is exactly what Carter

The President-elect told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in a private meeting two weeks ago that "I intend to appoint a strong and competent secretary of state, but ... I will be the president and I will represent the country in foreign affairs.

Carter evidently intends to re the practice followed by Presidents John F. Kennedy and Richard M. Nixon in using the national security adviser as the main source of foreign policy advice, leaving the State Department to provide information and carry out directives.

In any event, Carter clearly wants Vance to be low-key. A major campaign issue raised by Carter was the dominance displayed by Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger over American foreign policy. He strongly criticized Kissinger for being "a Lone Ranger" in conducting the nation's

Both Carter and Vance made it clear Friday when the President-elect announced the appointment in Plains. Ga., that Kissinger's whirling dervish style of personal diplomacy will be abandoned

'I think the amount of travel that Mr. Vance would do would be fairly minimal." Carter said.

Vance speaks with experience as a ball carrier. His first major government role came in 1961 as general counsel for the Defense Department.

He was elevated to secretary of the Army a year later, followed in 1964 by a promotion to the Pentagon's No. 2 position, deputy secretary of defense.

He resigned in 1967, turning down the defense secretary's job, because of a bad back and to assume a position with a Wall Street law firm. But he continued to serve President Lyndon B. Johnson off-and-on, first as a special negotiator in Cyprus in 1967, then in a similar position in Korea.

In 1968 and 1969, he was the No. 2 American negotiator for the Vietnam peace talks in Paris.

He also acted as Johnson's personal representative during the Detroit race

Carter had warm words for Vance in his statement, but he emphasized the technical and administrative aspects of the incoming secretary

Vance is an old friend, Carter said, and "a level-headed, competent good The incoming chief manager." executive added that Vance is "a superb adviser, negotiator.'

Carter and Vance also touched on a few specific foreign policy issues and the President-elect showed that he intended to keep Vance under his direc-

Riffe to be key state leader

Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) firm grip on his troops in the House, Speaker Vernal G. Riffe Jr. will become one of Ohio's key decision makers when the next legislature convenes Jan. 3

He will share the leadership role in a new veto-proof General Assembly with his counterpart-Senate Majority Leader Oliver Ocasek, D-27 Akron.

Democrats will control the House 62-37, and with Ocasek's 21-12 margin in the Senate, the legislature will be able to enact laws and adopt the 1977-1979 budget over the objections of Republican Gov. James A. Rhodes.

Riffe, 50, a dapper-dressed, bespectacled insurance man from New Boston in Scioto County, is likely to keep a tight rein over the lower chamber during the next two years, possibly propelling himself into contention for the governorship in 1978. He scorns such talk, for the record, anyway. "My job is to be speaker," he

Riffe will be starting his 19th year in the legislature, he is a "down home" politician from southern Ohio, like Rhodes in that and other ways. He never graduated from college, he learned his politics at the grass roots level, and doesn't mind twisting arms in a party caucus. Also like Rhodes, Riffe demands and receives loyalty.

All he had to do to retain his same leadership team from the last two years was to say he wanted the members re-elected. They were, without challenge, at a November caucus

The team includes Speaker Pro Tem Barney Quilter, 57, D-47 Toledo; Majority Leader William L. Mallory, 45, D-23 Cincinnati; Assistant Majority Leader Patrick A. Sweeney, 37, D-6 Cleveland, and Thomas J. Carney, 42, the majority whip, D-71 Youngstown.

Riffe's team has a combined total of 36 years' legislative experience. All started their House careers in 1967 with the exception of Carney who first was elected in 1970. The speaker already has served notice that Democrats are going to be looking once again at bills Rhodes vetoed over the past two years. Most notable among them are bills establishing collective bargaining procedures for public employes and protecting homeowners from unscrubulous contractors, along with consumer and other measures.

Democrats also are expected to draw new congressional districts for the 1978 elections, hopeful of cutting further into the 13-10 edge Republicans now hold in Ohio's delegation to the U.S. House.

Otherwise, Riffe promises a "good legislative program", and insists even in the face of mounting state money problems that it will be possible to forestall a tax increase for at least the next two years.

Otherwise, the speaker said he thinks there are certain areas of state services which could be cut. He said he wants to look at the recommendations of the governor, who was elected in 1974 on a promise of no new or increased taxes but is charged by law to submit a balanced budget to the legislature in

For protection of rivers, streams

Australia patterns after Ohio

COLUMBUS. Ohio -Australia may soon have a government program. program patterned after Ohio's Scenic Rivers Act which protects and preserves high quality rivers and

According to the Ohio Department of Natural Resources, the Western Australia Amateur Canoe Association, an organization of canoe clubs, is attempting to have passed into law a scenic rivers program similar to that of

"With Australian society becoming increasingly urbanized, the rivers and streams of Western Australia should be protected and preserved because of the state's scarcity of waterways due to the arid climate and desert terrain," said Robert W. Teater, director of the Ohio

Department of Natural Resources. The U.S. Department of Interior recommended the Ohio program as a model for Western Australia. Ohio is a pioneer in river preservation and leads the nation with a total of eight rivers included in the state's scenic river system. Two Ohio rivers, the Little Miami and Beaver Creek, are also part

The Western Australia Canoe Association has submitted the scenic rivers proposal to Australia's Department of Environment and Conservation, a state government subdivision.

If passed into law the act would provide that rivers worthy of designation be classified as wild, scenic or recreational to ensure their preservation for future enjoyment.

Western Australia's scenic rivers program would be administered by the Conservation and Environment Department. It would be the first in the country. Western Australia is the largest of Australia's six states in total Ohio's Scenic Rivers Law, enacted on Feb. 28. 1968, was the first of its kind in the United States. Twenty-three states have since passed legislation for the protection of rivers and streams.

The Ohio Department of Natural Resources' Division of Natural Areas and Preserves is responsible for ad-

Western of the national wild and scenic rivers ministering Ohio's designated scenic rivers

"The key to the long-term success and national recognition of Ohio's program is the support and involvement of local citizens, government agencies, planning commissions and others whose primary goal is to develop and implement a plan to protect and maintain Ohio's quality rivers and streams," said Richard Moseley, chief of the Division of Natural Areas and Preserves.

"Rivers preserved in their natural state offer a mixture of relaxation, exercise, adventure and an opportunity to escape briefly from the urban environment," he added.

The idea of compulsory attendance of pupils in public schools developed slowly in Ohio after being advocated as early as 1857 by School Commissioner Anson Smyth. Considered at various times by the general assembly, it lacked popular support. Not until 1889 was an effective law passed, providing for truant officers in every locality.-

Santa and the Giant Fighter

Synopsis: Billy the Giant Fighter travels to Santa Land to slay the wicked giant who has captured the Fairy Queen and plans to capture Santa Claus.

PATRICK TWEEDLEKNEES Billy the Giant Fighter burst through the door of Santa's house. He didn't even knock

"Good gracious!" cried Santa. He had been pacing up and down in front of his fireplace. He stared at Billy in astonishment. "Who are you?"

"I'm ready to fight!" announced
Billy loudly. He swung his sword back and forth a few times but he felt a little silly because there didn't seem to be any giants around.

"Throw him out!" shouted a furious voice from the corner. "Look what he's done to my papers!" A short bowlegged dwarf was jumping up and down and pointing angrily to a sea of papers which the breeze from the open door had flung all over the room.

"I-I'm sorry," stammered Billy putting his sword back in his belt. "I thought - I thought-

'You didn't think at all!" bellowed the dwarf. "Let me tell you things are bad enough without-

Tweedleknees!" 'Quiet. turned to the boy and said gently, "You must not mind Patrick Tweedleknees. He is old and grumpy and he has much on his mind. A wicked giant named Goko has captured the Fairy Queen. He has taken the moon from the sky and promises to take me, too, when I ride on Christmas Eve. Then he will marry the Queen, gain possession of all her magic, and he himself will rule the world.

Tweedleknees has been playing with all the letters of the alphabet to discover the magic words that will free the moon. But it's all useless, I'm afraid, because the Queen has said that only a real live boy who believes in giants can save us all."

"I'm the boy!" cried Billy eagerly.
"I'm Billy the Giant Fighter. An elfite sent me here.

"Giant fighter!" sneered Patrick Tweedleknees. "You look like a goldfish fighter. How many giants have you fought?

"Not many. Not any, really, I guess But I can! I know I can!'

Santa took the boy's hands in his. "Do you truly believe in giants?' "Oh. ves!

"Thank goodness!" cried Santa smiling. For a minute he looked cheery and pink the way Billy had always imagined he would look. Then he turned sad again and said, "Billy, you're the one chance we have to save the Fairy Queen and Santa Land. But Goko is strong and his power is great

"Billy, you are our one chance!" said Santa.

and you must be very very brave." Billy nodded. He was so scared he couldn't speak. He put his hand on the wooden sword in his belt. It gave him courage. He found his voice and said, "This is my sword. I made it myself. I expect it doesn't look like much to you but it is better than you might think.' Santa studied the sword and nodded solemnly. "The blade is straight and the point is good." He put his arm around Billy and drew him nearer to the fire because the boy was shivering so. Then he told Billy that more than a sword was needed to destroy the giant.

"You must have some magic as strong as Goko's or he will destroy you before you have a chance to strike him with your sword. 'But where will I get such magic?'"

asked Billy From the Harp Witch. She is Goko's enemy. We will visit her and she will tell us what you must do. Billy said he was ready to go but Santa said they could not go until Patrick Tweedleknees had found the magic words to free the moon.

'For, you see," said Santa. "The giant can be destroyed only while the moon is in the sky. That is why Goko took it out of the sky and that is why we must put it back.

College basketball already has had more than its share of upsets this young season, and Louisville's Denny Crum envisions many more before the shooting stops in March

"Anybody can beat anybody today," says the Louisville coach. "Everybody has good talent. Anybody even though you may not know about them.'

Earlier this season, third-ranked North Carolina was upset by Wake Forest. Last Wednesday night, fourthranked Indiana was tripped up by Toledo On Friday night 19th-rated Rutgers was surprised by Columbia. And Saturday night, Crum's seventhranked Cardinals were beaten by Syracuse 76-75.

Even though his team was upset, Crum was not.

"They played well and beat us," Crum said with a shrug. "I'm not disappointed with our effort. We did turn over the ball at crucial times and we've got to do things better on defense. But Syracuse is a darn good

Two grand old men of college football turned in their whistles after their teams, often playing for Southwest Conference honors, met for just pride and show.

Following Texas' 29-12 victory over Arkansas Saturday night, Darrell Royal of Texas and Frank Broyles of Arkansas announced they would step down from their coaching positions but remain at their schools as athletic

It was if some great director orchestrated the tearful farewell for the two coaches, who have been great friends and coaching rivals in the Southwest Conference for two decades. Royal's teams have won 11 SWC titles and two national championships and Broyles' clubs have won seven SWC crowns and one national championship.

The fans in Memorial Stadium were kept in the dark until the last 18 seconds of the game when the public address announcer said: "Let's give these two great gentlemen a round of applause for their fine contribution to the coaching profession. Both are resigning tonight."

Texas' victory was built on a pair of touchdown runs by Earl Campbell and three field goals by Russell Erxleben. The triumph kept Royal from suffering his first losing season in 20 years at Texas. The Longhorns finished 5-5-1.

"It meant a lot to me that the guys wanted me to never have a losing season," said Royal after his Longhorns jubilantly carried him off the field.

Broyles has had two losing seasons in his 19 years at Arkansas. The Razors also were 5-5-1 this year

The new powers in the SWC are Houston and Texas Tech, which share the conference crown with 7-1 records. Houston, however, gets the SWC's Cotton Bowl ticket because it beat

LOS ANGELES(AP) — The Boston Red Sox, who were foiled in their attempt to land some of Charlie Finley's top talent last season, now have set their sights on acquiring Oakland pitching ace Vida Blue.

Most baseball officials were on hand Sunday for baseball's annual meetings which officially began today. Finley, whose A's have been depleted through defections, was not due until Tuesday, by which time the trading market should swing into full gear.

The Red Sox, who won the 1975 American League pennant but slipped to third place this year, realize they will have to make some moves to keep close to the 1976 champion New York Yankees. The Yanks grabbed two prize plums among the free agents — slugger Reggie Jackson and pitcher Don

Baltimore, which finished second in the AL East, is considerably weaker with the loss of Jackson, second baseman Bobby Grich and 20-game winner Wayne Garland.

Finley dealt Blue to the Yankees last June 15 for $1.5 million only to have the deal nullified by Commissioner Bowie Kuhn. The commissioner also killed Finley's $2 million sale of outfielder Joe Rudi and reliever Rollie Fingers to the Red Sox on the same day. Finley is suing Kuhn and the case is scheduled to go to court in Chicago Dec. 13.

A baffling disease that causes partial blindness has forced Price, The Associated Press' Ohio Class A Coach of the Year, to quit his post at West Liberty-Salem High School.

Doctors had told Price before the season that he should not coach in 1975. Still, he led the Tigers to their greatest accomplishment ever, one loss in 10

In Saturday's games, St. Louis beat Baltimore 24-17 and Los Angeles em-barrassed Atlanta 59-0.

Patriots 27, Saints 6

Steve Grogan ran for two touchdowns and threw for two for New England. Grogan has run for 11 TDs this season, tying him with Johnny Lujack of Chicago (1950) and Tobin Rote of Green Bay (1956) for the NFL record for quarterbacks. Fullback Don Calhoun, continuing to fill in for the injured Sam Cunningham, ran for 113 yards in 22 carries, his fourth straight 100-yard plus effort.

Cowboys 26, Eagles 7

Roger Staubach completed 22 of 29 passes for 253 yards and one touchdown as Dallas wrapped up its division championship for the eighth time in the last 11 years. Philadelphia managed only 42 yards through the air.

Redskins 37, Jets 16

Billy Kilmer threw for three touchdowns and John Riggins carried 19 times for 104 yards and scored twice against his former teammates. Washington is tied with St. Louis at 9-4 in the NFC East but has beaten the Cardinals twice this season. Thus, the Redskins can wrap up the NFC wild card playoff berth next Sunday by beating Dallas.

Browns 13, Oilers 10

Brian Sipe tossed a 37-yard touchdown pass to Paul Warfield and Don Cockroft booted a pair of clutch field goals as surprising Cleveland won its fifth straight game, keeping its playoff hopes mathmatically alive. The Browns can get into the playoffs only if they win their final game and both Pittsburgh and Cincinnati lose theirs. The Cleveland defense held Houston to just 58 yards rushing.

Vikings 20, Packers 9 Minnesota rolled up 414 yards in total offense to just 144 for Green Bay but needed a pair of one-yard touchdown plunges by Chuck Foreman in the fourth quarter to ice the game, played during a snowstorm with temperatures in the teens. Dolphins 45, Bills 27

Freddie Solomon returned a punt 79 yards for one touchdown, ran 59 yards from scrimmage for another and scored a third on a 53-yard pass play for Miami. That helped offset another brilliant show by Buffalo's O.J. Simpson, who carried 24 times for 203 yards. It was Simpson's sixth 200-yard game, an NFL record. He gained 111 yards in the first quarter alone. Don Strock, who went all the way at quarterback in place of Bob Griese for the Dolphins, threw for two TDs and ran for a third.

Mike Livingston passed for the first Kansas City touchdown and ran for the second.

Giants 24, Lions 10 Craig Morton hooked up with Ed Marshall on touchdown passes of 35 and 11 yards as New York, 3-10 over-all, evened its record at 3-3 under Coach John McVay. Detroit, which lost the ball three times on fumbles and twice on pass interceptions, fell to 6-7.

Bears 34, Seahawks 7

Walter Payton rambled for 183 yards on 27 carries and Bob Avellini fired three touchdown passes within a threeminute span in the third quarter for Chicago. Payton, who had 114 yards in the first half, has gained 1,341 yards this season, breaking the club record of 1,-231 set by Gale Sayers in 1966

AP Sports Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Miami's basketball team is having no part of the act its football squad put on, a flop after being to picked to win the Mid-

American Conference title. The Redskins, perhaps the most lopsided favorite ever to win the MAC basketball title, crunched Cleveland State 113-63 Saturday for a 2-0 start and Coach Darrell Hedric sounded almost apologetic.

"I can't tell the kids not to go in and score," said Hedric. "I said, 'Go out and play to your potential.'

'Coach (Ray) Derringer thinks this is his most talented team. Cleveland State hasn't jelled yet."

Western Michigan, the MAC champion a year ago, showed no signs of falling off this season, ruining Michigan State's home debut 74-73. Mike Reardon's two free throws with 18 seconds left won it for the Broncos.

Elsewhere, all in nonconference games, Bowling Green thumped Findlay 98-69, Kent State held off rival Akron 80-78, Northern Illinois mastered Centenary 72-68 and Ohio University fell to Northwestern 73-71. Miami, which jolted Big Ten power Purdue in its opener, ruined Cleveland State with numbers. Twelve Redskins scored, five in double figures led by 18 apiece by Rich Babcock and Archie

"The reserves did a super job," said Hedric. "I was just interested in getting my bench in some playing time."

Western Michigan overcame a 46-39 deficit at Michigan State, which lost three regulars on personal fouls. The Spartan departees included top scorer Bob Chapman, with 25 points.

The Broncos also lost all-conference center Tom Cutter on personals and relied on balanced scoring in his absence. Marty Murray led the parade with 12 points.

Billy McKinney, who scored 22 points, sank a foul shot with eight seconds left to clinch Northwestern's victory at Ohio. Ernie Whitus paced the 1-1 Bobcats with 20 points.

Burrel McGnee scored seven points in the final minutes to help Kent State, 2-1, hold off Akron, 0-2. The Flashes nearly blew an 11-point lead with 11 minutes to go.

I know I have gout. I can go along for months without any trouble and suddenly, without any apparent reason, it flares up. I've never been able to track down the reason. Have you any ideas?

One of the characteristics of gout is that attacks can recur at unpredictable intervals. An injury, an infection, overindulgence in alcohol or in certain types of foods, and even some drugs, may precipitate an attack of gout. Sometimes people with a gouty tendency may have an episode following surgery. Gout is a disturbance in the manufacture and retention of uric acid. It occurs to me that since you have a predisposition to gout why aren't you taking the excellent drugs that can reduce the accumulation of uric acid in your blood?

What importance is it if a child constantly develops black and blue marks over her body, even without serious injury? Otherwise she is in excellent health.

Mrs. H. R., Pa.

Dear Mrs. R.: Such discoloration often may happen to young, active children who may injure themselves even slightly in play. The black and blue marks are caused by small collections of blood under the skin. Tiny blood vessels are broken and the discoloration, known as "ecchymoses," is caused by the seepage of blood. If such marks are extensive and seem unrelated to any kind of injury, then a study of the blood is necessary. Highly complex tests can show deficiencies of the bloodclotting mechanism and reveal any tendency towards unusual bleeding.

Is a spur on the heel a form of arthritis? How can the pain be

Mr. D. L., Calif.

Dear Mr. L.: Spurs are deposits of calcium in the tendons of the muscles of the heel. They are not considered a form of arthritis. Those who have them testify how painful they can be unless they are protected by rubber and foam rubber sponges to avoid further injury.

Surgery is very beneficial in cases that cannot be controlled by protective measures. DR. COLEMAN welcomes letters from readers. Please write to him in Opening lead - five of hearts.

This deal occurred in a match between Argentina and the United States. At the first table, with Argentina North-South, the bidding went as shown. North's five notrump bid was a continuation of Blackwood and asked for kings. At the same time, it guaranteed that the partnership had all four aces. Strongly influenced by his powerful suit, South ignored his partner's inquiry for kings and bid seven diamonds. This would have worked out well had the spades been divided 2-2, but they were divided 3-1 and South went down one. North could have saved the situation had he used the grand slam force convention. At the point when South responded five hearts, showing two aces, North should have bid six clubs. This would have by-passed the Blackwood bid of five notrump directed at kings, and hence would have served as an inquiry about South's trump holding (spades had already been agreed upon as the trump suit). South would respond six spades — denying possession of the A-Q, with which he would bid seven spades - and the bidding would have ended right there. All of which proves that in the proper setting the grand slam force is a highly effective convention. At the second table, with the U.S. North-South, the bidding started exactly the same way. But over South's four spade bid, North, completely disregarding Blackwood and the grand slam force as though he had never heard of either of them, went directly to six spades, which closed the auction. Highly unscientific, you might say, but nevertheless highly effective. North made twelve tricks, chalked up a slam, and went on to the next

Plan survey on foliage

WASHINGTON (AP) Agriculture Department plans to make a survey early next year to find out more about the nation's flower and foliage plant crops.

Officials said the survey will begin in January and will run through mid-February in 27 major producing states, including five to be surveyed for the first time: Alabama, Arkansas, Georgia, Kansas and Virginia.

Production and sales of potted and cut flowers, foliage and other so-called floriculture have risen in recent years.

In the past, surveys have concentrated on carnations, chrysanthemums, gladioli, roses and foliage plants. This time, the department said, potted poinsettias, potted lilies, potted hydrangeas, potted geraniums, cut snapdragons, and vegetable and flowering bedding plants will be added.

Associated Press Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) chairman of a House judiciary subcommittee is expected to submit legislation in January to take some of the traditional secrecy out of grand jury proceedings in Ohio.

Rep. Dennis E. Eckart, D-18 Euclid. said over the weekend that while his committee's report on the subject is not complete, he thinks reform is needed to update archaic procedures to assure accused lawbreakers of due process.

Eckart said he is optimistic about picking up Republican support for his group's proposals, particularly from Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, who headed a committee of the Ohio Constitutional Revision Commission which made some of the same findings. They are expected to come up for a vote before the revision commission at its meeting next Tuesday.

Eckart's subcommittee and Norris' Committee on Civil and Grand Juries both recommend permitting grand jury witnesses to have a lawyer at their side when testifying, and prohibiting prosecutors from withholding so-called "exculpatory evidence" which might tend to show the defendant was in-

The Euclid lawmaker, like Norris, an attorney, wants to also require tran-- The scripts of grand jury proceedings, empower grand juries to initiate investigations and hire independent investigators, and to raise grand jurors' pay-now $5 a day and five cents a mile for travel.

Eckart said he doesn't yet have agreement in his own subcommittee on the latter recommendations, but indicated he will include them in a bill he is having drafted for introduction during the first week of the new legislature starting Jan. 3.

However, not everyone shares Eckart's views.

Michael Foley of Dublin, executive director of the Ohio Prosecuting Attorneys Association, defended the concept of secrecy in grand jury deliberations and described the proposals as "not necessary or appropriate.

Foley said prosecutors would be reluctant to have attorneys in the proceedings if there were no effective means to restrict "the scope of advice an attorney could give." He also suggested that the requirement was not necessary because traditionally, "grand jurors hear testimony that is not admissible as evidence at a trial.'

Christmas tree business large

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - When you purchase your Christmas tree this year, you may not realize you are contributing to a major business.

According to William Cowen, extension forester at The Ohio State University, said the National Christmas Tree Growers Association reported 35 million natural Christmas trees sold last year in this country.

The association said the annual value of the trees is $70 million, but by the time they get to the retail level, this figure reaches $210 million.

Cowen estimates Ohio's contribution to his at about 400,000 trees a year worth around $1 million. Because of the great demand, this huge crop does not meet Ohio's needs and thousands of trees are imported annually from Canada, Michigan, Pennsylvania and other states, he said.

Russian rock stars get state salaries

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) - In the United States, musicians who sell 10 million records and draw capacity to concerts become millionaires. In the USSR, they get a government salary.

Members of the Russian folkrock group Pesnyary made clear in an interview Sunday that it's a long way from their home base of Minsk to Morgantown, N.C., where they won a standing ovation on their first American tour.

The eight musicians say they're proud of their claim to be Russia's most popular group, and they said they enjoy being recognized on Soviet streets. But they insist they cannot be called 'stars.

Pesnyary performed here Saturday night as part of a nine-day visit to mostly small Southeastern towns. The group is sharing the bill with the New Christy Minstrels, whose promoters are hoping for an invitation to the Soviet Union in return. The Russians said their salary is not small, and that with royalties from record sales they earn about as much as a Soviet doctor or lawyer. But they could never pull down $1 million or more from a single concert, they said, as some Western rock groups do.
